Govt moots MeToo redressal panel

Committee of senior judges, legal experts will look into issues, says Maneka

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

With #MeToo campaign in India gaining momentum, the Government on Friday stepped in promising to set up a high-level panel to look into all issues related to sexual assaults in the workplace.

Supporting the #MeToo movement, which has encouraged countless women to share their stories of sexual harassment, Union Minister for Women and Child Development Maneka Gandhi said her Ministry will soon propose a panel with senior judicial and legal persons as members to look into all issues surfacing from the campaign.

Maneka's comments came a day after her colleague Textiles Minister Smriti Irani urged people not to mock women speaking out against the harassment meted out to them. "That is my only appeal to everybody who is witnessing this surge of outpouring of emotion, of anger on the internet and offline also," she had said in Mumbai. However, senior BJP leader Sushma Swaraj has chosen to remain silent on the issue despite being repeatedly asked for her comments.

Maneka said she believes in all the women who have come out with complaints of sexual harassment. More women should come out and address the issue of sexual harassment and narrate their experiences, Maneka said.

"I believe in all of them. I believe in the pain and trauma behind every single complainant," she told PTI in an interview. Maneka did not comment on the allegations of sexual harassment against her colleague MJ Akbar, who has been accused by several former women colleagues of sexual harassment when he served as editor at various media organisations. Union Minister Akbar, film director Sajid Khan and actor Alok Nath are among those accused of sexual misconduct.

"I am proposing to set up a committee with senior judicial and legal persons as members to look into all issues emanating from the #MeToo campaign," Maneka said.

The committee will look into the legal and institutional framework in place for handling complaints of sexual harassment, including some of the complaints if required, and advise the Ministry on how to strengthen these, the WCD Minister said.

"It takes a lot for women to come out like this. These cases have been elephants in the rooms for the last 25 years. The question here is how can they prove these after all these years... they have faced verbal assault, they have been touched, pinched, their clothes have been pulled... The first thing to do is naming and shaming these monsters. Naming and shaming will go a long way in lessening the pain these women have been carrying," she said.

Urging women to come out with their stories, Maneka said men who sexually harass women depend on them to be shamed into keeping quiet. She said her Ministry has created a woman friendly environment in which they can complain to her directly. Even anonymous complaints will be addressed. Maneka said women could complain through the she box (she-box.nic.in), which provides a single window access to every woman, irrespective of her work status to register complaints related to sexual harassment. Complaints can also be lodged at min-wcd@nic.in, she said.

All the cases will be closely monitored by the Ministry. "Regarding taking action against those that are in office, I am really hopeful that the system will react because I believe that these complaints are true," she said.

According to the Minister, protecting women has been the watchword of the present Government with the Beti Bachao Beti Padhao campaign being one of its flagship schemes.

In an official statement, the Union Minister said in order to ensure harassment-free workplaces covering all (all ages, full-time, part-time, public and private sector, organised or unorganised sectors, etc, including domestic workers, students, apprentices, and even the women visiting an office), the Government has put in place an effective legal and institutional framework in place through the "sexual harassment at women at workplace (prevention, prohibition and redressal) Act" 2013.

He said, "This incessant bullying of women, no matter how competent they are, is because this is the archetypal, nauseating patriarchy of our legal profession. It is not discussed, it happens everywhere."

Shotgun to take on big gun as SP face in Varanasi?

VIRENDRA NATH BHATT ■ LUCKNOW

A day after the two dissident BJP leaders — Yashwant Sinha and Shatrughan Sinha, a party MP — attended the Jayaprakash Narayan birth anniversary at the Samajwadi Party office here, the SP indicated that "Bihari Babu" should be its candidate from Varanasi Lok Sabha elections against Prime Minister Narendra Modi in 2019 Lok Sabha elections.

The actor, popularly known as "Shotgun", who has been sulking ever since the NDA Government came to power at the Centre in May 2014, has stepped up his attack on the Prime Minister for quite some time.

SP sources said Bihari Babu could be an asset for the party, as besides getting a lion share of the Kayastha community votes, he may also polarise the anti-BJP votes in Varanasi Lok Sabha constituency. Varanasi is also closer to his home State Bihar and Patna Lok Sabha seat, presently held by him.

According to highly placed sources in the SP, the discussion to field Shatrughan from Varanasi is in progress and a decision could be taken soon.

DU girl kidnaps landlord's toddler for ₹5 cr ransom

STAFF REPORTER ■ NEW DELHI

Easy money and lure of filthy lucre drove a BA first year girl student of Delhi University's Deshbandhu College to kidnap a three-year-old son of her landlord with the help of her minor brother, according to police.

However, after the abduction for a ransom of ₹5 crore, the girl failed in her mission as a South West district police team swooped on her after monitoring her calls to the victim's family. The zeroed in on the location where the child was kept, and rescued him. The girl and his minor brother were arrested from the spot.

The ordeal of the parents started on Thursday when the boy went missing. Following which they lodged a police complaint.

According to the victim's mother, the girl and her brother were living in the first floor of their house on rent with their parents. "Our child was kidnapped around 7 pm on Thursday. The incident was captured in our neighbours CCTV camera in which a young boy is seen taking the child. An hour later my husband received a message demanding ₹5 crore as ransom for the release. My husband negotiated the amount and they finally came down to ₹2 crore," said the mother.

"Again a message was received stating that if we want our child back safely we should remove people gathering outside the house. Meanwhile my husband had already informed police and number was traced down by police and she was caught," said the mother, adding that the girl is in relationship with a boy in her college and on his influence she might have taken this step.

Throwing light on the incident, Deputy Commissioner of Police (Southwest) Devender Arya said, "On Thursday, we received a Police Control Room (PCR) call at Vasant Kunj south police station regarding a missing child. Initial enquiry revealed that the accused person demanded ransom for the child's release from the victim's father through WhatsApp messenger."

"Teams were constituted and after several raids, a girl was arrested from her residence in Ghitorni. During sustained interrogation, she revealed that she hatched the conspiracy to kidnap the child for ransom along with her brother. For this purpose, they had hired a room in Ghitorni. She disclosed that they were planning to kidnap the child since August this year for easy money," the DCP said.

POCSO court rejects bail plea in GRD school rape case

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

A Special Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act Court on Friday has rejected the bail application of five persons accused in the alleged rape of a minor girl and its alleged cover-up involving GRD World School.

Anxious relatives and sympathisers of the accused had assembled outside the POCSO court on the day in hope that the court would grant bail to them.

However to their dismay, the court rejected the bail applications. The courtroom witnessed long arguments between the counsels of both prosecution and defence after which the judged rejected bail of the accused in the high profile case.

The incident of the rape of the class X girl is said to have happened on August 14 when four senior boys sexually exploited her in the school premises. The victim in her complaint had alleged that she had narrated the incident to the maid (Aaya) of the hostel who told her to keep her mouth shut.

The maid later told about the incident to the higher ups of the school but everyone scolded the girl. In order to suppress the case a harried school administration even gave abortion pills to the girl.

On the complaint of the girl the police arrested the Director of the school Lata Gupta, Principal Jitendra Sharma, administrative officer Deepak, his wife Tanu and maid Manju and sent the boys charged with rape of the minor to the juvenile homes.

On the recommendation of the education department of Dehradun, the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) has cancelled the affiliation of the school.

Edu department warns schools of cancelling NOC on NCERT books

Replies of some schools to show cause notice unsatisfactory

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

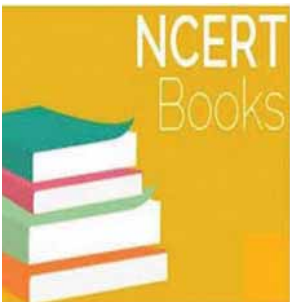

Finding the explanation submitted by 133 schools in reply to the show cause notice slapped on them by the education department regarding defiance of Uttarakhand High Court (HC) order on the mandatory implementation of National Council of Education and Research (NCERT) books unsatisfactory, the Director General (DG) school education, captain Alok Shekhar Tiwari has warned that the department may cancel the no-objection certificate (NOC) issued to them.

These schools have obtained the affiliation of Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) on the basis of NOC provided by the State education department and the cancellation of the NOC would put the affiliation of the schools into jeopardy.

The DG school education said that the explanations submitted by the schools suggest that the schools are implementing only those books which are not published by the NCERT.

In the explanation, the schools have claimed that they have implemented books of private publishers in subjects like Arts, Hindi Grammar, General Knowledge, Computer, IT and Physical Education.

Tiwari said that the reports submitted by the inquiry teams suggest that the prices of these books were exorbitantly higher than the NCERT books which is violation of HC order.

He said that the maximum price of NCERT books from class I to VIII is ₹50 while the maximum rates of books in classes IX and X is ₹165 while for Classes XI and XIII, the maximum price of a textbook is ₹220.

He ordered that the rates of non-NCERT books should not be more than 10 percent of NCERT books.

In the warning notice, the DG said that these schools have put unwarranted pressure on the parents of the students to purchase expensive non- NCERT books.

It is pertinent to mention here that the education department had conducted an inquiry in the districts of Dehradun, Haridwar, Udham Singh Nagar and Nainital following the order of HC on NCERT books. On the basis of the findings of the inquiry, the department on September 18 had issued notices to 181 schools in these districts.

In the notice, the department had found these schools of not following the order of Uttarakhand High Court (HC) on NCERT textbooks and warned of cancelling the NOCs issued to these schools.

The department had asked these schools to submit their replies before October 4. Out of these 181 schools, 133 schools had submitted their explanations to the show cause notice.

Destruction of live missiles starts 14 yrs after accidental delivery as scrap from Iran

Operation 555 Patrampur- Army team starts work on destroying live munitions

PNS ■ JASPUR

A 12 member team from the Indian Army has started work on diffusing and destroying about 555 live missiles accidentally transported from Iran as scrap 14 years ago. On Friday, the team extracted and diffused 220 live missiles. The threat from the missiles had been discovered in 2004 following an explosion that had resulted in the death of one worker and caused injuries to more. The live missiles were buried at Patrampur in Jaspur area of Udham Singh Nagar district.

The Indian Army 201 counter explosive device unit from Barabanki has been working on diffusing the live missiles in Jaspur since Thursday. On Friday, the team extracted 220 of the buried missiles and detonated them safely on the Fika riverbed.

From the security point of view, the army cordoned off one kilometre area. The superintendent of police Jagdish Chandra said that the task will continue in the coming days.

It is pertinent to mention here that the Indian Army team had started work on digging up the missiles with the help of mechanical excavator on Thursday.

The missiles had arrived as scrap in the SG Steel factory in Kashipur about 14 years ago. Accidental explosion of a missile in 2004 which had led to the death of one worker and injuries to others had resulted in the discovery of the live munition. After the accidental explosion, the local administration had then brought the missiles from the factory and buried them near the Patrampur post in Jaspur.

The local authorities had exchanged official communication with the officials concerned on many occasions to facilitate secure disposal of the live munitions.

Following this, the Indian Army took up the task of destroying the missiles. The team's captain Vikas Malik said that the live munitions will be destroyed on the Fika river bank and buried. The task will take about one week to complete, he added.

Simians' problems continue in Nainital

PNS ■ NAINITAL

With the authorities failing to take effective action, aggressive simians continue to pose a problem for the public in the lake city of Nainital.

Located amidst dense forests, Nainital has a considerable population of langurs and macaques. The illegal practice of feeding monkeys and improper dumping of garbage has brought the simians closer to human habitats.

Monkeys can be seen in various localities of Nainital on the roads and residential localities where they have made it difficult for the public to move conveniently especially the women and children.

Locals complain that so far monkeys had bitten dozens of school children. The simian issue had achieved such serious proportions that it after a youngster accidentally died after a fall from the terrace due to a monkey four years ago, the issue had also reached the High Court.

However, the local authorities merely fulfilled formalities, hiring teams from Mathura in Uttar Pradesh to catch monkeys and release them elsewhere for about three years. This has evidently not helped resolve the problem.

The simians in town are now causing problems not only for the locals but also for the visiting tourists.

Observers point out that the Forest Department has favoured impractical measures like sterilisation of monkeys which has proved to be a failure in neighbouring Himachal Pradesh.

Instead of such measures which actually cause monkey troops to become more aggressive towards humans, the authorities need to take measures like growing fruit trees in the forests, preventing people from feeding them and stopping improper disposal of garbage in public places.

Congress demands CBI probe into Sanand's death

To hold candle march in Dehradun on Saturday

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

State Congress vice-president Surya Kant Dhasmana has sought a probe by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) into the death of the Ganga crusader Swami Gyan Swaroop Sanand. The technocrat-turned-ascetic had died at All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) Rishikesh on Thursday after a observing a marathon fast for 110 days.

The Congress leader said that the high-level probe into the death is warranted by the doubt aired by Sanand's spiritual mentor Swami Shivanand and Matri Sadan which he heads. "They said that the ascetic might have been killed. Besides, Swami Shivanand and others of the ashram have held both the Centre and the State responsible for the death of the Ganga activist. Against this backdrop, the lingering suspicion over the death of the ascetic must be cleared through a high level inquiry," he said.

He, further, said that his party would hold a candle march in Dehradun on Saturday evening by way of paying tribute to the Swami Sanand who has sacrificed his life for the cause of the holy river Ganga. The State Congress chief Pritam Singh would lead the candle march , attended by the party leaders and activists. The march would start at 5.30 pm from the State Congress office and would end at Clock Tower, Dhasmana informed.

Flaying Premier Narendra Modi for remembering Ganga, Cow and Ram only during the time of polls, Dhasmana said that despite Modi having proclaimed himself as a son of Ganga in Varanasi, he has no time to consider the deplorable state of the sacred river in Haridwar. "Modi paid no heed to the letters written to him on Ganga by Swami Sanand. He also ignored the long-dragging fast of the crusader of Ganga which caused his death," he added.

Feud in Chautala family intensifies

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

The ‘chacha-bhatija’ feud in Haryana’s influential Chautala family escalated on Friday with reports of suspension of Hisar MP Dushyant Chautala and his younger brother Digvijay Chautala from the party. While the party leaders termed the reports of suspension as ‘rumors’, Leader of opposition and senior party leader Abhay Singh Chautala claimed having no knowledge about the same.

Abhay Chautala on Friday also played down an apparent rift within the Chautala family, which has gone public after the INLD supremo OP Chautala dissolved the party’s youth wing and student wing INSO a day before.

Digvijay Singh Chautala, who was national president of now-disbanded INSO, reiterated on Friday that the INSO cannot be dissolved by anyone except its founding member and its executive committee during a press conference in the national capital while Abhay Chautala at a press conference in Haryana’s capital Chandigarh maintained that OP Chautala is fully authorised to take any decision in this regard and it does not matter who says what.

While Abhay Chautala and his nephew Digvijay Chautala gave contradictory statements on Friday, Hisar MP Dushyant Chautala is yet to respond on the ongoing turmoil in the party.

Abhay Singh Chautala is the younger son of OP Chautala. Hisar MP Dushyant Chautala and Digvijay Chautala are sons of INLD’s state secretary general Ajay Singh Chautala, Abhay’s elder brother.

The rift within the Chautala family had come to the fore on Thursday, when OP Chautala had dissolved the party’s student and youth wings — headed by Dushyant and Digvijay respectively.

While the party leaders has brushed aside the reports of suspension of Dushyant and Digvijay as “rumors”, party sources said that both leaders have been given seven days time to respond to the allegations leveled against them.

The party in a press statement issued on Thursday had stated that both youth and students wings have been dissolved after they were “found to be lacking in discipline and commitment to the ideals of the INLD”.

Political observers feel that with the recent organizational changes in the party, OP Chautala has sided with his younger son Abhay Chautala, who will be leading the party in 2019 Lok Sabha polls.

The decision is seen as a bid to cut Dushyant and his younger brother Digvijay who was heading the INSO to size.

There had been reports of ongoing “war of succession” between Abhay Singh Chautala and Dushyant for a long time.

The senior Chautala’s decision to dissolve the youth wing and student wing had come days after a group of youths allegedly indulged in hooting at the Gohana rally on October 7 when the Abhay Chautala was speaking, while there were cheers for Dushyant Chautala as he spoke.

In 2014 Lok Sabha polls, Dushyant had successfully contested from Hisar seat and became the youngest MP at 27.

Ajay Singh Chautala along with his father OP Chautala are currently serving jail term in the teachers’ recruitment scam.

ABHAY CHAUTALA DENIES ANY RIFT IN THE PARTY

Senior INLD leader Abhay Singh Chautala on Friday played down an apparent rift within the Chautala family saying nephews Dushyant and Digvijay are “our children”.

At the same time, he maintained that anyone violating the party discipline will face action.

“There are no differences with Dushyant and Digvijay, they are our children,” Abhay Singh Chautala said while talking to the mediapersons here. But discipline is our party’s biggest strength. If any person violates that, party will take action, he added.

When asked whether Dushyant Chautala has been suspended from the party, Chautala said he had no knowledge about this.

On OP’s Chautala decision to dissolve party’s youth and students wing, he said the student and youth wings were asked to ensure a smooth conduct of the rally. But they failed to do so and Chautala Sahab took this step.

On Digvijay Chautala’s claims that only INSO founder Ajay Singh Chautala or its executive committee could dissolve the wing, the Leader of opposition said, “INSO is a part of INLD. Everyone knows it well and they hold all their programmes under the party flag. OP Chautala is fully authorised to take any decision in this regard. It does now matter who say what on this now...”

When asked about the INLD chief effecting a restructuring in the party, he said party leaders at a meeting on October 3 in Gurugram authorised OP Chautala to carry out changes in the organisation. It is for him (O P Chautala) to see what task he has to entrust to whom in the party organisation and who has to be relieved of what duty.

“Those who worked hard, they were again entrusted with various responsibilities and those who failed to perform...they were asked to give chance to others. And this is an election year,” he said when asked to comment on restructuring turing in INLD.

When further pushed to answer on ongoing turmoil in the party, Chautala told mediapersons that they should be more worried about farmers of Haryana and not about changes in the INLD.

DIGVIJAY CHAUTALA MAINTAINS INSO IS INDEPENDENT BODY

Going against his grandfather’s decision, Digvijay Chautala, who was national president of now-disbanded INSO, on Friday maintained that INSO is an independent body and has a separate constitution.

INSO can only be dissolved by founder member Ajay Chautala or its executive committee, said Digvijay while talking to the mediapersons in New Delhi on Friday evening.

On a question whether he is going against his grandfather’s decision, he said, “I respect OP Chautala Sahab but INSO cannot be dissolved like this.” Both OP Chautala and Abhay Chautala are not members of INSO executive committee, he said in reply to a question.

He further said that INLD has 17 wings as documents submitted with the Election Commission and INSO is not mentioned in those documents.

On reports of suspension of Dushyant from the party, he said they did not get any such communication from the party.

On allegations of indiscipline and anti-party activities leveled against youth and student wing, Digvijay said that an inquiry should have been carried out into this. People had raised slogans of zindabad and not murdabad against anyone at the Gohana rally held on October 7.

When asked about rift in the Chautala family, Digvijay denied such reports saying that everything is fine in the family and the party.

On meeting with OP Chautala and Ajay Chautala on recent development, Digvijay said that he will soon meet them.

NEW CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN THE PARTY

INLD chief OP Chautala announced more organizational changes in the party on Friday. Ashok Arora will remain INLD’s Haryana chief while Ajay Singh Chautala will remain as party’s secretary general.

MLA Jasvinder Sandhu, Satvir Verma, OmPrakash, Rajender Bisla and Chaudhary Sunil Yadav have been appointed as vice presidents of state party unit. The political affair committee will include Ashok Arora, Ajay Chautala, Abhay Chautala, former MLA Sher Singh, MLA Jaswinder Singh, Gopichand Gehlot, Subhash Goyal among others.

Punjab bans gutkha, pan masala, flavoured chewing tobacco

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Punjab has completely banned the flavoured chewing tobacco, gutka and paan masala containing tobacco or nicotine in the State. The State Government has issued a notification to this effect on October 9, 2018, imposing the ban for one year.

Announcing this, the State Food and Drug Administration commissioner Kahan Singh Pannu said that in pursuance of the Food Safety and Standards (Prohibition and Restrictions on Sales) Regulations, 2011, the manufacture, storage, sale or distribution of gutka, paan masala (containing tobacco or nicotine), processed, flavoured or scented chewing tobacco and any other food products containing tobacco or nicotine as ingredient by whatsoever name these are called as final products, whether packaged or unpackaged or sold as one product or through packaged as separate products available in the market, is prohibited for a period of one year in the state of Punjab, from the date of issue of notification.

Pannu said that it has been observed that to circumvent the ban on the sale of gutka, the manufacturers are selling paan masala (without tobacco) with flavoured chewing tobacco in separate sachets, but often they are conjoint and sold together by the same vendors in the same premises.

This is done intentionally so that consumers can buy the paan masala and flavoured chewing tobacco and mix both the articles as a concoction to replace gutka.

Hence, instead of the earlier “ready to consume admixture”, paan masala and flavoured or scented chewing tobacco are being used to serve the same purpose. In view of this processed, flavoured or scented chewing tobacco, gutka and paan masala containing tobacco and have been banned in the State.

SAD asks Cong Govt to disburse ₹3,000 per acre to farmers to manage paddy straw

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) on Friday asked the Congress-led Punjab Government to immediately disburse ₹3,000 per acre to incentivize farmers willing to bring in positive change by managing paddy straw. At the same time, the party declared that it would stand with the farmers and not allow the government to register cases against them.

“It is shocking that instead of offering money to the annadaata to manage paddy straw or engaging machines to deal with it free of cost, the Congress Government has shifted this responsibility to farmers and is now intimidating them with threats of cases and jail terms,” said the former minister and senior SAD leader Bikram Singh Majithia.

Urging the farmers to unite to counter these repressive tactics, Majithia said that the Akali rank and file would stand with them and protest any move to penalize farmers. He also urged party workers to rush to the spot to show solidarity with farmers on receiving any information of prosecution of farmers.

Blaming the Congress government squarely for failing to take steps to avoid burning of paddy stubble in the State, the Akali leader said that the government had a full year to tackle the issue but aggravated it instead of trying to resolve it.

“The government first delayed paddy transplantation by 10 days through a dictatorial order which has reduced the cropping window for sowing of wheat crop and gives very little time to farmers to manage paddy straw,” he said adding that the Government placed orders for 14,000 machines like happy seeder and super straw management systems but only around 500 machines have been received on subsidized rates.

Asking the Congress government how it could victimize farmers when it had been given Rs 665 crore by the Centre to generate awareness on stubble burning and boosting use of subsidized machinery which it did not put to good use.

Protest against indirect elections: Students hurt in police lathicharge

PNS ■ CHANDIGARH

Haryana Police on Friday resorted to lathicharge on students at Kurukshetra University and Rohtak’s Maharshi Dayanand University during the students’ outfits protest against the indirect election to students unions to be held on October 17 in universities and colleges of the state.

At least 12 students were injured when the students were protesting outside the Kurukshetra University campus.

Similar protests were held in Sirsa, Yamunanagar and other districts of the state over the conduct of indirect elections to students’ unions.

Earlier in the day, more than 200 students affiliated with student organisations, including NSUI, had sat on a protest in front of gate number 3 of Kurukshetra University in support of their demands, blocking the movement of vehicles on Kurukshetra-Pehowa road.

Kurukshetra Deputy Superintendent of Police Gurmaj Singh said police resorted to mild lathicharge when students held up traffic on the road.

He said all students were dispersed from the site after the police action.

An FIR under various sections of IPC has been registered and police is trying to arrest the student leaders who incited the students, he added.

Notably, the student union elections in Haryana colleges and universities are being organised on October 17, after a gap of 22 years. The BJP led Haryana Government has however decided to hold indirect polls to students unions.

The decision has not been accepted by students’ outfits like now-disbanded INSO, NSUI, SFI and others who are demanding direct elections to students’ unions in Haryana. In indirect polls, class representatives are elected in colleges and department representatives in universities, who will elect the president and other office-bearers of student organisations.

Commenting on the lathicharge on students in Haryana, now-disbanded INSO national chief Digvijay Chautala while talking to the mediapersons in New Delhi on Friday said that we will boycott students’ elections on October 17.

SERVING CUSTOMERS WITH A SMILE

IRANIAN OIL, RUSSIAN PURCHASE NOT HELPFUL: US

US reviews India's deals with Russia, Iran

Washington: The US is reviewing "very carefully" India's decision to continue buying Iranian oil and purchase of the Russian S-400 air defence system, a top official has said, terming it "not helpful", days after President Donald Trump observed that New Delhi would soon find out if it faced punitive measures.

The US is trying to cut off all oil imports from Iran to zero by November 4 following Trump's decision in May to pull out of the 2015 multilateral deal that eased global sanctions in exchange for curbs on Iran's suspected nuclear programmes and malign activities.

Responding to questions on reports that India will continue to purchase oil from Iran after November 4, State Department spokesperson Heather Nauert said this was "not helpful".

India's Oil Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Monday said two State refiners have placed orders for importing crude oil from Iran in November.

"Overall with regard to those sanctions that will take effect on November 4 — and you're referring to the oil sanctions for Iran and countries that choose to continue purchasing oil from Iran — we have conversations with many partners and allies around the world about those sanctions," Nauert said on Thursday.

"We make our policies very clear to those countries. We continue to have conversations with the Government of Iraq about that particular issue and the implications for the reimposition of sanctions that were previously lifted or even waived under the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA)," she said.

The Trump administration has given the same message to all countries around the world, and the president has said that the US is committed to re-enforcing all of its sanctions.

"We believe that countries coming together and recognising the malign influence that Iran has had around the world is important. We know that Iran and the Government of Iran has taken the benefits that it received under the JCPOA and they've poured that money not into their own population, not into the good of the people, not into its medical hospitals and things of that nature, but rather they've used it for its own nefarious programmes," Nauert said.

Noting that she has seen reports of India continuing to buy oil from Iran after November 4, she said this was a topic of conversation with the Indian Government when Secretary of State Mike Pompeo was in India last month for the first 2+2 Dialogue.

"The President had addressed it — I believe it was just earlier today — which he was asked about that question about whether or not India would buy oil from Iran after sanctions are reimposed. And the President said — and I'm not going to get ahead of the President, certainly — but he said we'll take care of that," she said.

On the implication of the Countering America's Adversaries Through Sanctions Act or CAATSA on India after it inked the $5 billion deal with Russia to purchase the S-400 Triumf air defence system, Nauert said, "He (the president) was asked also about CAATSA sanctions and possible imposition of CAATSA sanctions. And he said, you know, India is going to find out.

"And India will find out. We'll see. So I'm not going to get ahead of him, but certainly when we hear about things such as purchasing oil or the S-400 systems, it's not helpful. The United States Government just reviews that very carefully," Nauert said.

The Countering America's Adversaries Through Sanctions Act or CAATSA is a US federal law that imposed sanctions on Iran, North Korea and Russia.

In Russia's case, the act primarily deals with sanctions on Russian interests such as its oil and gas industry, defence and security sector, and financial institutions, in the backdrop of its military intervention in Ukraine and its alleged meddling in the 2016 US Presidential elections.

NHRC TURNS 25

Triple talaq law part of Govt's efforts to protect Muslim women, says PM

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Hoping that Parliament will pass the Bill banning instant Triple Talaq, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday said the legislation to protect the Muslim women was part of Government's efforts to provide justice. He was addressing an event to mark the 25th anniversary of National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) here and also said that the Commission has an important role to play in Government's efforts to achieve sustainable development goals.

Modi said that the Government is committed to improve the lives of people by ensuring their rights. He cited various steps taken by Government in this regard and said the triple talaq legislation is a part of the effort to provide justice to the oppressed. "I am confident that this key legislation will be accorded approval by Parliament soon," he said. The bill is pending before Rajya Sabha with Lok Sabha having already passed it.

"For us, human rights & their protection are not merely phrases. They are articles of faith, which we are continuously upholding. Whenever basic human rights have been denied, like during Emergency, the people of India fought tirelessly and ensured democracy and human rights prevail," said Modi, congratulating the Commission in their service to the nation.

Besides, the Prime Minister, Home Minister Rajnath Singh and Union Minister of State (Independent Charge) for Communications Manoj Sinha also attended the function, chaired by NHRC Chairperson Justice HL Dattu.

The Commission, which was established on October 12, 1993 under the Protection of the Human Rights (PHR)

Act, 1993, has lined up a host of activities till Sunday to mark the anniversary. Disposal of more than 17 lakh cases, payment of more than one billion rupees to the victims of human rights violations by various state agencies on the recommendations of the Commission and more than 750 on-spot inquiries cap the 25 years of NHRC's work for the cause, said NHRC officials.

The rights panel has five members, including the chairperson, who deliberate upon cases put before them. Currently, two posts of members are vacant, he said. The NHRC, in the run up to the jubilee, has already hosted a number of programmes, including an international conclave on human rights, panel discussion on role of media in context of human rights, painting competition and slogan and logo making contest.

Sack Rupani, impose Prez Rule in Gujarat: Congress

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Congress on Friday demanded the sacking of Gujarat Chief Minister Vijay Rupani and imposition of President's rule in the State, claiming that law and order situation has collapsed there with large-scale attacks on Hindi-speaking migrants.

The Congress also asked Prime Minister Narendra Modi to speak up on the violence in the BJP-ruled state and apologise taking moral responsibility for what it called acts of the saffron party leaders.

Congress spokesperson Shaktisinh Gohil alleged that the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) MLAs and leaders were part of a pre-conceived conspiracy to fuel attacks against people from Hindi-belt states living in Gujarat in the aftermath of the alleged rape of a 14-month-old girl in Sabarkantha district on September 28 by a labourer from Bihar.

The Congress leader alleged it was under a "BJP conspiracy" that north Indians were attacked, saying no "true Gujarati" would approve of such incidents. After the rape incident came to light, at least six districts in Gujarat have seen incidents of large-scale violence against Hindi-speaking migrant workers, forcing an exodus of thousands of migrants, mostly from Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Madhya Pradesh.

Gohil said it was a policy of the ruling party to "divide and rule" and then blame the Congress party. He also named some BJP MLAs for allegedly fanning violence against Hindi-speaking non-Gujaratis in the state.

"Chief Minister Vijay Rupani should be sacked immediately by the BJP leadership for his Constitutional failures. Prime Minister Modi should speak up and apologise to the people of India and especially Gujarat, taking moral responsibility of BJP's acts," Gohil said at AICC press conference.

Stating that the prime minister was a Gujarati who won election from Varanasi in UP, the Congress leader said the states like UP, Bihar, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Maharashtra have contributed immensely in his electoral triumph and he should immediately sack Vijay Rupani.

Pointing out that there was a massive exodus of Hindi-speaking non-Gujaratis from the state and 165 FIRs were filed in connection with related incidents, he said, "It means law and order has collapsed and President's Rule should be imposed."

Gohil also defended Congress MLA Alpesh Thakor, who is facing the heat over the violence against Hindi-speaking migrants in Gujarat, saying he was making efforts to maintain harmony and peace and stop such attacks.

AMU suspends 2 students, Centre seeks report on tribute to terrorist on campus

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

The Centre on Friday sought a detailed report from the Aligarh Muslim University (AMU) over protest by a section of students within the campus over organising a 'funeral' for slain Hijbul Mujahideen terrorist Mannan Wani. The HRD Ministry on Friday issued notices to the University authorities to explain the related incident.

The university suspended two students and issues show-cause to seven others, according to a statement issued by the university. The notices come after reports said a group of students of AMU organised a funeral for the slain Hijbul Mujahideen terrorist on Thursday evening. The ritual, however, was interrupted by authorities before it could be completed.

"We received a call from the Ministry officials and have been asked to send a report on the incident. The situation was brought in control on time and no untoward incident took place. We have already taken action against students who were involved. We will send the due reply to Ministry," said a AMU administrative officer.

Around 15 students have been sent show-cause notices by the university after the incident. This has also led the Ministry to ask for an explanation from the university.

Wani, a PhD scholar at AMU, was killed in an encounter with the security forces in Jammu & Kashmir on Wednesday. Wani was reportedly popular among Kashmiri students, who organised the 'funeral'. Wani was debarred by the University in January after the authorities got to know of his involvement with the Hizbul.

A group of Kashmiri students had organised a funeral for Wani, a ritual which is done in absentia. But before they could go ahead with it, Faizul Hasan, a PhD scholar and former president of the students' association, claimed he tried to stop them. A few students too reached the spot and told them not to continue with it, as it would give a bad name to the university.

The Proctor was also called to the spot and they had to eventually abandon the ritual. A minor scuffle ensued between students who were trying to conduct the funeral and those trying to stop them and it was only after the authorities intervened that the situation was brought under control.

Rafale row: Repeating lies not going to change reality, Goyal to Rahul

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

Asserting that a lie can't be a substitute for the truth, the BJP on Friday said Congress president Rahul Gandhi is flogging a dead-horse on the Rafale issue and creating fake news even as it sought to clarify that the final list of offset companies would be out only by the end of 2019.

Addressing a Press conference here, Union Minister Piyush Goyal hit out at Rahul and accused him of repeating lies and alleged that purchase of Rafale fighter jet was cancelled by the Congress-led UPA Government as Dassault company was not willing to give offset contract to one Sanjay Bhandari, a close associate of Rahul's family.

He said Reliance-Dassault association dates back to 2012 when UPA was in power at the Centre and the incumbent government has no role in it. He said obligatory offset investment in India by Dassault could be done in a variety of ways including through Foreign Direct Investment.

Goyal said though the Modi-government got the Rafale deal in the best terms and conditions, Congress, an

"issueless party", is spreading lies and propaganda on it.

He listed Congress President's lies on seven points including Dassault offset deal, Supreme Court ruling on Rafale deal, alleged dissent by an officer in the Ministry of Defence, alleged quid-pro-quo with a particular company, Ex-President of France allegedly calling Prime Minister Modi as thief, falsehood that he (Rahul) met French President and was told that there was no secrecy law in Rafale deal and quoting different prices for a basic Rafale aircraft and comparing it with a fully loaded one.

The Minister said BJP and the government have nailed all the lies of the Congress leader on the Rafale deal. He said unlike the Congress which cancelled Rafale contract and jeopardize national security, the Modi-government has given the National security a top priority by expediting the fighter plane.

Egg production to touch 100 billion annually

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

India's egg production will soon touch 100 billion annually from nearly 90 billion per year as the poultry sector is growing rapidly and becoming organised. Interestingly, the availability in India is around 70 eggs per person per year, while as per National Nutrition Institute this should be about 180 eggs per person.

Addressing a conference to mark World Egg Day, Minister of State for Agriculture Parshottam Rupala said the poultry sector is growing rapidly and is contributing to the country's food security.

He said the sector provides a lot of employment opportunity and would help immensely in achieving the Government's target to double farmers' income by 2022. Rupala said the poultry business does not require huge investment that helps small and marginal farmers.

Minister of State for Agriculture Krishna Raj spoke about importance of eggs in our daily life. "Eggs are clean and healthy food," she said. Speaking at the event, Agriculture Secretary Tarun Shridhar said the country's poultry sector is estimated at ₹1 lakh crore.

"Egg production is about 90 billion and will soon reach 100 billion per year," he added. Stating that the poultry sector was growing at 6 per cent annually, he said the sector has become organised which would help in tapping export markets. While Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan, Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh and Andhra Pradesh topped in the dairy sector, the highest egg producing States in the country were Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, West Bengal and Haryana. "Low cost of egg production, high productivity, rise in egg consumption in the north owing to growing per capita income of a young and increasingly urban population and emerging export markets are certain key growth drivers of egg production in India," official said. India exports over five crore eggs worth over ₹250 crore each year and the winter season is the peak season for exports. Afghanistan, Algeria, Hong Kong, Maldives, Middle East and African countries are leading export markets for eggs produced across India and Brazil, China, Europe, Taiwan and the United States are India's biggest competitors. The global market for eggs is currently at over 2,000 billion and is rising at a growth rate of over 60 per cent.

PNS ■ NEW DELHI

In a move to alert general public and local authorities to brace up for bad air in advance, the Ministry of Earth Sciences (MoES) will launch an 'air pollution emergency prediction system' for Delhi on October 15.

The month of October usually sees very poor air quality due to stubble burning and adverse meteorological conditions ahead of Diwali and onset of winter. In other words, Delhi will be better equipped to tackle sudden pollution spikes this winter, with an 'early warning system' that can predict air quality levels at least two days in advance. This will not only help residents brace for high-pollution days, it will also enable the Graded Response Action Plan (GRAP) that kicked in last year to be implemented in advance.

IMD official said the new system 'air quality emergency early warning system for Delhi will be operational from October 15'. "The system, first of its kind in the country, was developed indigenously in record time by Indian Institute of Tropical Meteorology, Pune and operationalized by India Meteorological Department (IMD). The system will draw data from 36 monitoring stations run by the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), Delhi Pollution Control Committee (DPCC) and SAFAR and will predict a real time information," said IMD official.

SC refuses to stay WB Govt's decision to grant ₹28 cr to 28K Durga puja committees

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Friday refused to stay the decision of the West Bengal Government to grant ₹28 crore to 28,000 Durga puja committees across the State.

A bench of Justices Madan B Lokur and Deepak Gupta, however, issued notice to the State Government on a plea challenging the decision to grant ₹10,000 each to 28,000 Durga Puja committees, and sought its reply within six weeks.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for the State Government, said the money has not been directly paid to puja committees and has been given through the State police.

The top court was hearing a petition filed by advocate Sourav Dutta, challenging the Mamata Banerjee Government's decision to dole out ₹28 crore to puja committees in the State for Durga Puja celebrations. On September 10, Banerjee had declared that ₹10,000 would be given to each of the 28,000 puja committees across the State — 3,000 in the city and 25,000 in the districts, costing the Government ₹28 crore.

SC rejects Kamal Nath, Sachin Pilot's petitions on voters' list of MP, Rajasthan

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Friday dismissed two separate petitions of senior Congress leaders Kamal Nath and Sachin Pilot seeking directions to the Election Commission to provide the draft voters' list in poll-bound Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan in text format.

Polls in Madhya Pradesh will be held on November 28 and in Rajasthan on December 7. A bench of justices A K Sikri and Ashok Bhushan said, "We have dismissed these petitions".

The apex court had reserved its verdict on October 8 on the plea of leaders alleging duplication of voters in the list and sought a proper redressal of grievances to ensure free and fair elections.

The plea filed by Nath said directions should be issued to publish the voters' lists in a "text format as per rules", instead of the PDF format, and expeditious decisions taken on all complaints before their final publication.

CORRUPTION CHARGE AGAINST EPS

HC transfers case to CBI for fair probe

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

In what is being seen as a major setback to Tamil Nadu Government, the Madras High Court on Friday ordered a probe by the Central Bureau of Investigation into the allegations of corruption against Chief Minister Edappadi Palaniswami.

Justice AD Jagadish Chandrari transferred the probe into allegations of corruption against the Chief Minister from the Directorate of Vigilance and Anti-Corruption (DVAC) to the CBI, “in the interest of justice and to ensure free and fair investigation”. The justice also set a time line of three months for the CBI to complete the investigation.

The court was disposing of a petition filed by DMK organising secretary RS Bharathi on June 13 alleging largescale corruption in the award of five civil contracts by the State Highways Department. This is a portfolio being held by the Chief Minister.

Interestingly, the court verdict came three days after the DVAC, which held a preliminary probe, gave a clean chit to Palaniswami last Tuesday stating that it did not find commission of any cognisable offence.

The complainant Bharathi had charged that the contractors who bagged major civil contracts of works funded by the World Bank were close relatives and friends of the Chief Minister and his son.

This is the second case against the Government of Tamil Nadu which has been transferred to the CBI. Earlier, the court had transferred the Gutkha pay-off case probe too to the CBI for investigation as the case featured ministers and top bureaucrats and police higher-ups.

Fast track courts for disposal of infants’ rape case

PNS ■ GANDHINAGAR

Gujarat Government on Friday appointed two fast track judges in order to quickly dispose the case related to rape on infant in Himatnagar as well as another rape case on minor in Surat.

With these appointments, trial would become speedy in cases related to rapes on minor girls. Hearing related to the attacks on migrant labourers would also be conducted in these courts as already over 60 such cases have been registered with the Gujarat police in different parts of the States.

On September 28, 2018 a 14-months-old girl was allegedly raped by a labourer belonging to Bihar.

Following the incident, provoked locals attacked on Hindi-speaking labourers working in factories. Taking advantage of the situation, some politicians too gave provocative speeches against the innocent labourers, as a result of it around 1 lakh workers fled to their respective States out of fear.

Meanwhile the Gujarat

The High Court has also asked to file affidavit against those personnel working with the State Government who failed to protect innocent labourers

High Court asked the State Government to file an affidavit in reply to a public interest litigation seeking action against those responsible for the recent attacks on migrant workers. The court has also asked to file affidavit against those personnel working with the State Government who failed to protect innocent labourers.

Human Rights activists and advocate Khemchand Koshti filed he PIL challenging the “action or inaction of the State as well as the State police in not taking any preventive measures” to stop the attacks on the migrants living in Gujarat.

In his petition Koshti has claimed that more than two lakh migrants had fled to their home States after the

Raj Bhavan slams TN's Opp parties, ‘yellow journalism culture’

KUMAR CHELLAPPAN ■ CHENNAI

The stand-off between Governor Banwarilal Purohit and the non-BJP political parties in Tamil Nadu reached a new high on Friday with the Raj Bhavan releasing a statement expressing concern and consternation over the incidents that took place in the last three days including the arrest and release of a magazine editor and the kind of diatribe used against the office of the Governor by the main Opposition party, its allies and a section of the media.

The Governor has referred to the arrest of Nirmala Devi, an assistant professor in a college at Aruppukottai in Southern Tamil Nadu in connection with charges of her enticing some of the girl students to solicit sexual favours for her higher ups. The magazine Nakheeran published a series of news reports claiming to be based on the statements given by Nirmala Devi to police in which she is reported to have disclosed that the girls were being courted for the Governor. “The need for Raj Bhavan to narrate the truth has indeed shown the limits towards which fear of antisocial and lumpen elements has taken the society to. This is most unfortunate and reminiscent of the days under the British till the Father of the Nation came to the fore to teach the people to resist fear and stand on the path of truth and goodness,” said the Raj Bhavan statement.

It said there was only absolute falsehood and not a shred of truthfulness in the links attributed to the Honourable Governor or the Raj Bhavan in the issue concerning Nirmala Devi. “The statement given by her before the police will itself bear out the truth. This being the case it is a matter of humour to hear people say that press freedom is being threatened on the court, of action being taken under the law after much patience and tolerance to stop a slanderous, vulgar and cowardly way of attacking the first citizen of the State,” the statement said.

The statement which has used power packed words said that the Raj Bhavan had maintained a dignified silence for more than six months ever since the issue came to light as the law was taking its own course. “It was indeed shocking to see a resurfacing of yellow journalism in an issue of the magazine in late September after the charge sheets had been filed and all investigation completed. Those who claim to be involved in investigative journalism have not even bothered to verify the actual statement given by Nirmala Devi before the police. The height of casualness and cowardice in journalistic ethics had been reached with the publishing of this article,” said the statement.

Hunt is on to arrest ex-Min Manju Verma

PATNA: The police are frantically looking for Kumari Manju Verma and her husband Chandeshwar Prasad Verma after the Patna High Court rejected the anticipatory bail plea of Bihar's former Social Welfare Minister.

The couple are absconding after coming under the radar of the CBI. The Begusarai police withdrawn the police guard posted at her Shripur house under Cheria Bariarpur police station after he was shrilled to inquire the whereabouts of Vermas.

The name of her husband came up during the investigation in the infamous Muzaffarpur girls' shelter home case in which 34 minor girls were sexually assaulted. Verma was found to be in constant touch with main accused Brajesh Thakur and reportedly visited the shelter home secretly. After that his wife Manju was forced to resign as she was Minister of Social Welfare, the department under which the Government run shelter homes come and granted finance. The CBI which was handed over the investigation by the Bihar Government raided their Shripur house on August 17 from where 50 live cartridges of various bores, including prohibited ones, were found. Since then the couple is on the run.

On Friday the Beguarai police pasted a poster on her house declaring her absconder and asking people to let police know their whereabouts if they have any knowledge.

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

The “Me too” movement left the reputations of three more film personalities Sajid Khan, Subhash Ghai and Luv Ranjan in tatters and the shooting of film “Housefull 4” came to be cancelled on Friday, even as leading actors Akshay Kumar, Ajay Devgn and Farhan Akhtar threw their weight behind the victim women.

Facing sexual harassment charge, Ghai appeared to be in a denial mode, while Sajid Khan took “moral responsibility” for his alleged misbehaviour with women and quit as the director of Housefull 4 — which is the fourth installment of the highly-successful Housefull comedy series produced by Sajid Nadiadwala. However, there was no official word from Ranjan.

“In the wake of the allegations against me and the pressure being put on my family, my producer and the stars of my film ‘Housefull 4’, I must take the moral responsibility of stepping down from my directorial post, till the time I can allay the allegations and prove the truth.. Request my friends in the media to kindly not pass judgment till the truth is out,” Sajid tweeted.

Sajid Khan faces charges of sexual harassment from actress Saloni Chopra and journalist Karishma Upadhyay.

Earlier, yesteryear actress and author Twinkle Khanna set the ball rolling, by tweeting: “Appalled hearing multiple incidents of harassment and it is truly horrific to hear what these women have been through. Everyone involved in Housefull needs to take a firm stance on this issue. This cannot go on”.

Twinkle’s actor-husband Akshay Kumar tweeted minutes later: “I’ve just landed back in the country last night and reading all the news has been disturbing. I’ve requested the producers of Houseful 4 to cancel the shoot until further investigation. This is something that requires stringent action. I will not work with any proven offenders and all those who have been subjugated to harassment should be heard and given justice they deserve”.

Akshay Kumar plays the lead role in “Housefull 4” which also features Nana Patekar, against whom actress Tanushree Dutta has made sexual harassment charge.

Much to the discomfort of Sajid, his filmmaker-choreographer sister Farah Khan and cousin-actor Farhan Akhtar distanced themselves from him.

“This is a heartbreaking time for my family. We have to work through some very difficult issues. If my brother has behaved in this manner he has a lot to atone for. I don’t in any way endorse this behavior and Stand in solidarity with any woman who has been hurt,” Farah tweeted.

Farhan was in no mood to spare Sajid. “I cannot adequately stress how shocked, disappointed and heartbroken I am to read the stories about Sajid’s behaviour. I don’t know how but he will have to find a way to atone for his alleged actions,” he tweeted.

“Let there be no confusion about whether I stand in solidarity with the women who have spoken up. I absolutely do,” Farhan added.

Expressing his shock over the “Me Too”-related developments in Bollywood, Ajay Devgn tweeted: “I’m disturbed by all the happenings with regards to Me Too. My company and I believe in providing women with utmost respect and safety. If anyone has wronged even a single woman, neither ADF nor I will stand for it.

Tainted Nana steps out of ‘Housefull-4’

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Hours after sexual harassment-tainted Sajid Khan took “moral responsibility” and opted out as the director of film “Housefull 4”, senior actor Nana Patekar — facing allegations of sexual harassment from actress Tanushree Dutta — “stepped out” of the film on Friday evening.

In a statement issued on his father’s behalf, Patekar’s son Malhar said: “Nana sahib thought of the convenience of everybody as he wishes the best for the producer and the crew and hence felt that stepping out of the project would be an appropriate thing to do at this point of time”

Earlier in the day, Sajid had announced his decision to step down as the director of “Housefull 4” which is the fourth instalment of the highly-successful Housefull comedy series produced by Sajid Nadiadwala.

The lead actor of Housefull 4 Akshay Kumar had thrown his weight behind the victim women in the “Me Too” movement and requested the producers to cancel the shooting of the film, till further investigations into the allegations of sexual harassment.

“I’ve just landed back in the country last night and reading all the news has been disturbing. I’ve requested the producers of Houseful 4 to cancel the shoot until further investigation. This is something that requires stringent action. I will not work with any proven offenders and all those who have been subjugated to harassment should be heard and given justice they deserve,” Akshay had tweeted.

Hospitalised Parrikar meets BJP leaders, allies; to shed portfolios

PTI ■ PANAJI

Ailing Goa Chief Minister Manohar Parrikar is expected to shed “many” of his portfolios after Dussehra, according to Ministers who met him Friday in a hospital in New Delhi to discuss governance issues in his home State.

Parrikar, who is undergoing treatment for a pancreatic ailment in New Delhi’s All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), held meetings with party leaders as well as allies to discuss ways to ensure that his Government functions normally.

Leaders of the ruling BJP and allies, who met Parrikar separately, ruled out any change in leadership in the coastal State.

Union Minister and BJP leader Shripad Naik told PTI over phone from Delhi that the Chief Minister held review of the governance in Goa during the meeting.

“There was no discussion about leadership change. Parrikar is recovering and he will continue to be the Chief Minister,” the Minister of State for AYUSH said.

“The Chief Minister is expected to return to Goa from AIIMS for Diwali,” Naik said.

He said the issue of allocation of portfolios to Cabinet

Ministers was also discussed.

Vijay Sardesai, leader of BJP ally Goa Foward Party (GFP) and State Agriculture Minister, said Parrikar “wants to delegate many of the portfolios that he has”.

“It is very clear that the Chief Minister wants to delegate many of the portfolios that he has and that is why he had discussions with us (alliance partners). We are likely to see this development (portfolio distribution) after Dussehra,” Sardesai said.

Sardesai met Parrikar along with the leader of another ally Maharashtrawadi Gomantak Party (MGP) Sudin Dhalavikar and Independent MLAs Rohan Khaunte and Govind Gawade.

Earlier, Naik and State BJP president Vinay Tendulkar were part of a Goa BJP core committee that met Parrikar at AIIMS.

BJP Ministers Vishwajit Rane and Nilesh Cabral were also present at the meeting.

Tendulkar, a Rajya Sabha member, said Parrikar discussed the party’s organisational work in Goa.

Speaking after the meeting with allies, Sardesai said, “The CM wanted to ensure that Goa has a stable Government and we told him that the alliance will play its role in the future.”

SC notice to WB Govt on plea against funds distribution for Durga Puja

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court Friday issued notice to the West Bengal Government on a plea challenging its decision to grant ₹28 crore to 28,000 Durga puja committees.

A bench of Justices Madan B Lokur and Deepak Gupta, however, refused to stay the decision of the Government to grant funds to Durga Puja committees.

The top court was hearing a petition filed by advocate Sourav Dutta challenging the Mamata Banerjee Government’s decision to dole out ₹28 crore to 28,000 puja committees in the state for Durga Puja.

On September 10, Mamata Banerjee had declared that ₹10,000 would be given to each of the 28,000 puja committees across the State — 3,000 in the city and 25,000 in the districts, which would cost the Government ₹28 crore.

₹143-cr State Bank of Mauritius (I) fraud: Bankers limit cyber-attack loss to ₹19 cr

TN RAGHUNATHA ■ MUMBAI

Ten days after it suffered a major cyber attack involving a loss of ₹143 crore, the Nariman Point branch of the State Bank of Mauritius (India) on Friday claimed that its loss was limited to ₹19 crore.

In its complaint lodged with the Economic Offences Wing (EOW) of the Mumbai police on October 5, the Nariman Point branch of the State Bank of Mauritius (SBM India) had said that some fraudsters had hacked the bank’s servers to access the accounts and transferred the money the tune of ₹143 crore to multiple accounts operated from out of India.

In a statement issued here, the SBM India said here on Friday: “A cyber incident took place on Tuesday 2 October 2018 whereby SBM India has been victim of a cyber attack through fraudulent SWIFT

We would like to assure our customers that not a single customer account has been impacted. We are working with the relevant authorities to get to the root of the matter, SBM India said money”.

Maintaining that not a single customer account had been impacted, the the SBM India said: “We would like to assure our customers that not a single customer account has been impacted. We are working with the relevant authorities to get to the root of the matter”.

“Cyber-attacks are a concern to every bank today across the globe; as a bank it is our endeavour to ensure system updates on a regular basis. SBM is strongly committed to ensuring that its cybersecurity defenses are at the highest standard. SBM Group remains well capitalised and has ample liquidity to finance its future plans,” the SBM India added.

This the second major cyber attack on a bank located in Maharashtra during the last two months.

It may be recalled that a group of international hackers broke into the servers of the Pune-based Cosmos Co-operative Bank Ltd and siphoned off a staggering ₹94.42 crore in a short span of seven to eight hours spread over two days.

The miscreants had hacked

the payment gateways of the second oldest and largest co-operative bank in the country between 3 pm and 10 pm on August 11 and once again at around 11.30 pm on August 13 and walked away with ₹94.42 crore through nearly 15,000 ATM transactions.

Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi initiates measures to fight pendency, prevent delays in justice delivery

Tareekh per tareekh may soon be a thing of the past given the priority Chief Justice of India Ranjan Gogoi has given to the issue of tackling pendency of court cases in India. The trial and appellate structure of the Indian judicial system comprising Lower Courts (including magistrate and sessions courts), High Courts and the Supreme Court of India all are afflicted with the malaise of a huge backlog of cases. For anybody who has approached the courts of law in India for justice, which albeit are still the last refuge for many aggrieved citizens, a 15-year wait for it to dispensed is not unusual. As a rule of thumb, in both criminal and civil matters, a decade in the trial courts and another five years in appellate courts is common. That ought to surprise none given there are 2.77 crore cases pending in the Lower Courts, 32.4 lakh cases in the 24 High Courts and 55,000 before the Supreme Court. The Chief Justice has correctly identified one aspect at the root of the issue – judges being on leave or unavailable on working days – and issued a set of robust instructions to ensure this practice is severely curtailed if not wholly eradicated. Redressal of two other grievances which lead to an inordinate delay in disposal of cases – advocates' and litigants' non-appearance and/or irregularity in attending court – is also in the hands of the presiding judicial officers who have all powers to warn and take punitive action if there is any mala fide found in such tactics.

The most praiseworthy element of the CJJ's initiative is that he has shone the light within, to try and fix what is in the hands of the judiciary and he has consulted, via video-conferencing according to a newspaper report newspaper, the collegium of all High Courts comprising their respective Chief Justices and two senior-most judges to ensure that everybody is on the same page.

For starters, the practice of judges being allowed to take leave on working days unless due to pressing emergencies has been forbidden and those who do not follow this rule are liable to have judicial work withdrawn from them. In fact, the CJJ has reportedly asked High Court Chief justices to report to him directly any transgressions of this disciplinary measure aimed at inculcating a work culture that should be an example to us all. Additionally, the CJJ has expressed his disapproval of judges of High Courts and subordinate courts being away from work to attend seminars, workshops or official functions. He has also banned judges availing of their annual LTC during working days sending out the clear signal that while officers of the court do have the right to take a break they ought to, like most other professionals across sectors, plan their leave in advance and avail of LTC during prescribed court vacations. Last but not least, the Chief Justice of India has urged High Court collegiums to urgently recommend appropriate names (after proper and thorough vetting) to fill up the large number of vacancies for judges while advocating that the monitoring of the working of lower courts, which at present is a quarterly exercise and often a mere formality, becomes a robust exercise to be conducted daily. Thank you, Your Lordship.

50 WORD EDIT

Martyr to Ganga

It is a national shame that GD Agrawal, the man who fought for the cause of rejuvenating the Ganga all his life, breathed his last while on a 111-day fast demanding a ban on hydel projects and sand mining to save the holy river. His death must serve as a reminder to civil society, governments and individual citizens that saving the Ganga cannot and must not be reduced to a slogan.

Biased indicator

Fixed within templates, the World Bank's human capital index has yielded an incomplete and pre-determined picture

The World Bank and IMF have been known to be biased against developing countries, India included, to justify the West's agenda of ensuring superiority in the area that's a tougher challenge for us vis-a-vis them. That happens to be human resource development, handicapped as we, like China, are by huge populations. Justifiably, therefore, India has rejected the World Bank's latest survey of the Human Capital Index, which ranks India at 115 among 157 countries, pushing us back behind development indices of our neighbours like Bangladesh and Sri Lanka, some of whom have received development aid from us too. The index seeks to measure the amount of human capital that a child born today can expect when he/she turns 18. The Government claims that the report did not take into account several key initiatives undertaken for developing human capital, like those for the girl child, education and the now much talked about Ayushman Bharat. Besides, comparatives hold only when there is a fair, inclusive manner of data collection and analytics. Existing and fixed templates would but naturally yield an incomplete and pre-determined picture. Agreed that some of these schemes have just taken off the ground and perhaps wouldn't register high transformative impact in statistical terms yet. That doesn't mean that they would be completely written off either. Taken individually, each of our schemes covers a population arc so wide-ranging that many in the Western world too would not attempt to emulate. For example, the Samagra Shiksha Abhiyan aims at providing access and quality of education for the benefit of 197 million school children. The Ayushman Bharat programme is now officially the world's largest health insurance initiative, providing 500 million citizens with adequate health coverage. About 38 million women have been covered under the Ujjwala scheme and according to the government, the account ownership among rural adults has more than doubled from 33 per cent in 2011 to 79 per cent in 2017, significantly bridging the rural-urban gap after the Aadhar and Jan Dhan schemes.

And though the World Bank has earlier acknowledged poverty reduction in India, it is true that it is yet to benefit all segments of the population equally primarily because we are still chasing targets of inclusive growth. That's what is stunting consumption graph. The only takeaway of the report is that it argues for increased health and education outlays. This is a shift from the World Bank's own frequent emphasis on infrastructure as a marker for development. The IMF, in fact, has historically limited public spending as a condition of its loan packages, considering human resource development has a longer gestation period of deliverables. Question is whether the bank itself, still fuelled by Western funding, is ready to reframe its outlook vis-a-vis developing countries?

HIRANMAY KARLEKARKAR

The Special Report on Global Warming of 1.5°C, released by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) at Incheon, South Korea on October 7, 2018, makes chilling reading. Most of the predictions made in it – or their almost identically-articulated equivalents pronounced elsewhere – have been heard before. If these are most daunting, much more so is the new and breath-taking statement that at the current rate, the global mean temperature – which is already one degree Celsius above the pre-industrial revolution level – is likely to rise to the 1.5-degree mark sometime between 2030 and 2052.

It is important to recall here that the Paris Agreement on climate change, signed on December 12, 2015, calls for holding the increase in global average temperature to well below two degree Celsius above the pre-industrial revolution level and to try to limit the temperature increase to 1.5 degree Celsius above it, stating that this would significantly reduce the risks and impact of climate change.

The world has already warned one degree Celsius since the industrial revolution, hence it is really a question of a difference of another half-degree. The Special Report on Global Warming of 1.5°C, however, clearly indicates that warming, even if limited to 1.5 degrees Celsius, would not reduce the risks and impacts of climate change. Sea levels will continue to rise beyond 2100, threatening coastal ecosystems and infrastructure. Flooding, drought and extreme weather events will wreak havoc on communities around the globe. Many species will continue to be driven toward extinction and marine ecosystems could face "irreversible loss."

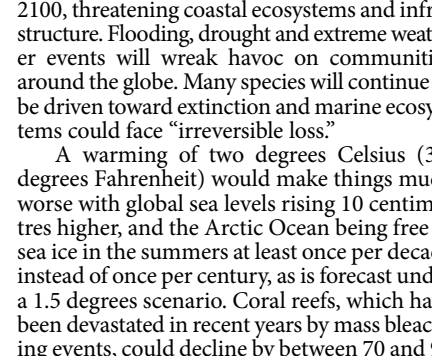

A warming of two degrees Celsius (3.6 degrees Fahrenheit) would make things much worse with global sea levels rising 10 centimetres higher, and the Arctic Ocean being free of sea ice in the summers at least once per decade instead of once per century, as is forecast under a 1.5 degrees scenario. Coral reefs, which have been devastated in recent years by mass bleaching events, could decline by between 70 and 90 per cent with 1.5 degrees of warming, and by 99 per cent at two degrees.

The IPCC's Special Report enumerates several ways of pegging down global warming at 2.7

degrees Fahrenheit (1.5 degrees Celsius). These require unprecedented reduction of fossil-fuel use by half in less than 15 years and almost total elimination of their use in 30 years. This means no gas or oil heating of homes, business or industry establishments; no running of vehicles by diesel or gasoline; closing down of all coal and gas power plants; wholesale conversion of the petrochemical industry to green chemistry; and heavy industry like steel and aluminium either using carbon-free energy sources or employing technology to capture Carbon Dioxide (CO2) emissions and permanently storing these.

Besides, the Special Report further states, that depending on the speed of reducing the emissions, between 0.4 and 2.7 million square miles of land may have to be converted to growing bioenergy crops and up to 3.86 million square miles of forests added by 2050. Even that would not be enough, the report warns. Every pound of CO2 emitted in the last 100 years will continue to trap heat in the atmosphere for hundreds of years to come. By 2045 or 2050 should still be excessive CO2 in the atmosphere. More forests or some form of direct capture that takes CO2 out of the atmosphere will be essential to stabilize global temperatures at 2.7 degrees Fahrenheit (1.5 degrees Celsius), above the pre-industrial revolution level.

Even if the proposed cuts in the use of fossil fuels were to begin immediately, it would only degrees Fahrenheit (1.5 degrees Celsius) global warming. Worse, as of now it would seem impossible to achieve these goals. This is clear from the fact that the current pledges to cut CO2 emissions are so inadequate that that the global warming rate is set to rise by 2100 to at least 5.4 degrees Fahrenheit (three degrees Celsius), risking natural tipping points such as thawing of large areas of permafrost. President Donald Trump's withdrawal of the United States from the Paris Agreement has made things worse. While it would become effective from 2020, steps to dismantle measures to implement the goals set up by the Paris Agreement have already been initiated.

The question is: What is to be done? As long as Donald Trump is President, one can hardly expect the US to reverse its decision to walk out of the Paris Agreement or change its attitude toward global warming. He has been publicly dismissive about climate science and had even called it a "hoax". His initial observations about the Special Report, available at the time of writing, did not reflect any inclination to take it seriously, to say nothing of accepting it. Saying that the report had been given to him, he had added, "And I want to look at who drew it. You know, which group drew it. Because I can give you reports that are fabulous, and I can give you reports that aren't so good. But I will be looking at it. Absolutely."

In many cases Governments are stymied by the opposition, sometimes violent, by sections of the public to the implementation of measures critically important for impeding global warming. For example, it is known that post-harvest burning of plant stubbles in agricultural fields in north India is a major cause of air pollution in Delhi and the surrounding areas from roughly the time around Diwali to the end of winter. Nor is it a secret that it continues because farmers would not hear of ending it and Governments are unwilling to use compulsion.

The answer clearly lies in building up pressure from below to compel Governments to take politically-difficult decisions and groups of people to abandon their opposition to measures critically important for combating global warming, which affect their individual or sectional interests. This would require a mass movement. The latter is also necessary to persuade people to give up ways of living – such as compulsive use of air conditioners – that conduce to global warming, and adopt lifestyles – shifts to vegetarian diets – that hinder it. If it was possible in the pre-independence days to turn Khadi clothes into virtually the uniform of freedom fighters, there is no reason why we cannot persuade people to adopt an environment-friendly lifestyle by showing that the alternative is the extinction of human and other living beings, including plants, through global warming.

Cure worse than the disease

The Maharashtra Government's bid to ensure good crop price for farmers is laudable but this must not be done by excessively penalising errant traders. Other options must be explored

UTTAM GUPTA

In August, the Devendra Fadnis Government approved several amendments to the Maharashtra Agricultural Produce Marketing (Development & Regulation) Act, 1963, to bring it in line with the Centre's model of Agricultural Produce and Livestock Marketing (Promotion & Facilitation) Act, 2017. As a result, the entire State was declared as a single market. Now, instead of the earlier rule, where traders would require separate licences for operating in each 'notified' APMC market, they will now need a single license that will enable them to purchase agricultural produce from any mandi within the State. This is a good decision that will help the farmers realise better price from buyers.

In a contrarian decision, however, the Government made purchase of farm commodity below the official minimum support price (MSP) a punishable offence. With this, if a private trader buys farmers' produce at a price lower than the MSP, he can be jailed for one year, and will have to pay a fine of ₹50,000. This is a 'draconian' regulation and is out of sync with the Modi Government's thrust on liberalisation and ease of doing business. To understand as to what led to such an extreme step, we must look at the underlying policy approach of the ruling dispensation to deal with low price realisation facing the farmers.

Faced with agrarian across the country and impending general election next year, in the Union Budget for 2018-19, Union Finance Minister Arun Jaitley had announced that the farmers would be assured MSP which is at least 1.5 times the cost of production. Mere assurance of a remunerative price is of no use unless the farmers are actually enabled to sell their entire produce at this price. To make it happen, the Government thought of three alternatives viz market assurance scheme (MAS), price deficiency payments and incentives to private sector to buy farmers' produce at MSP – as was recommended by NITI Aayog.

Under MAS, State agencies buy the produce directly from farmers at MSP. Under the second option, the Government does not buy. Instead, it reimburses the shortfall in price realised from sale (albeit in the mandi) vis-à-vis the MSP. Under the third alternative, the private sector is incentivised to buy at MSP.

Historically, Governments have used the first option but without much success. This because state agencies, such as the Food Corporation of India, National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation of India et al, do not have the infrastructure and wherewithal to carry out procurement operations on the required scale. As a result, even in the case of staple food, such as rice and wheat, agencies are able to purchase only up to one-third of the market

Flipkart, Amazon in festive sale slugfest

PTI ■ NEW DELHI

The face-off between the two e-commerce giants Flipkart and Amazon continues with the Walmart-backed company claiming it doesn't see much relevance for Indian users from the competitor, and Amazon contending that it remains the "most visited and transacted" e-tailing platform in the country.

Less than three days into their biggest annual sale, both Flipkart and Amazon said they had record-breaking numbers across categories like smartphones, large appliances and apparel and claimed they were way ahead of the other.

Flipkart CEO Kalyan Krishnamurthy said the company was expecting a big spike in its 'Big Billion Days' sales over last year, helped by increased presence in smaller towns and cities, expansive selection of high-quality private label products and availability of big brands on its platform.

Asked if he was worried about competition, he said: "We don't see that much of relevance for the Indian user coming from our competition today...We see them as becoming a global platform for premium Indian books and home goods buyers."

He also stated that having a competitor in the market had pushed the company to innovate a lot more. "But outside of that, do we really think... Do we worry about them? On a scale of zero to 10, it is close to zero today," he said.

Amazon, on the other hand, asserted that it continues to remain customer-focused and not competition-focused.

"Amazon remains the most visited, most transacted, most trusted online marketplace in India. We are particularly excited that our investments in financing solutions, fast delivery across the country, product insurance and warranty, installation on delivery, Hindi as a language option, and other India innovations are paying off as customers across India see us as the destination of choice..." Amazon India senior vice-president and country head Amit Agarwal told PTI. He pointed out that its 'Great India Festive Sale' was already shaping up to be its biggest ever, with three times more new customers shopping with the company for the first time. "...we look forward to maintain this momentum for the rest of the holiday season."

This is not the first time the two companies have exchanged warring words. In 2016, the then Flipkart CEO Binny Bansal had said 'selling churan, hing and memberships do not constitute real sales', taking potshots at its American rival.

Amazon had countered saying customers shopped for mobile phones, upgraded appliances, bought furniture and fashion along with items like churan and hing on its e-tailing platform.

E-commerce companies in the country are estimated to have clocked sales worth USD 1.5 billion (₹11,085 crore) in less than three days of festive sale with both Flipkart and Amazon India claiming to be leading the tally. According to RedSeer Consulting, e-commerce companies in India have achieved USD 1.5 billion in the first 2.5 days of the festive sale — led by sale of 4.6 million units of smartphones (translating into USD 800 million), large appliances (USD 170 million) and fashion (USD 120 million). It added that the industry was on track to reach the USD 3 billion-mark — twice that of last year — by the end of the five-day festive period. Players like Flipkart, Amazon India, Paytm Mall and ShopClues have lined up attractive offers and discounts across categories to woo customers to shop on their platforms.

Federal Reserve ‘out of control’, blasts Trump

PTI ■ WASHINGTON

President Donald Trump has intensified his attack on the US Federal Reserve following this week's plunge in stock prices, saying the central bank is "out of control" in raising interest rates, but ruled out firing its head Jerome Powell.

Trump's remarks on Thursday were the latest in series of recent barrages he has unleashed at the Fed.

The Fed under his hand-picked chairman Powell has been gradually raising rates as the economy has strengthened to prevent a run-up in inflation. "I think the Fed is out of control. I think what they're doing is wrong. Under the Obama administration, you had a lot of help because they had very little interest," Trump told reporters at the White House on Thursday while responding to questions on the down sliding of the stock market for a second consecutive day.

While the Dow Jones Industrial Average fell by 546 points, the S&P 500 tumbled 2.1 per cent and Nasdaq Composite by 1.3 per cent.

"When you talk about economies, our economy is far better than that. But we have actually — we're paying interest. They weren't. They were using funny money. But I think the Fed is far too stringent, and they're making a mistake and it's not right. Despite that, we're doing very well but it's not necessary, in my opinion. I think I know about it," he said.

At the same time, he ruled out firing Federal Reserve Chairman Powell.

"No, I'm not going to fire him. I'm just disappointed at the clip. I think it's far too fast. Far too rigid, far too fast," Trump said.

The President said the markets were way up over what they were. "It's a correction that I think is caused by the Federal Reserve with interest rates. The dollar has become very strong, which, frankly, people can debate whether or not they like a strong dollar or not," he said.

Asserting that the dollar is very strong and powerful, he said that causes a little difficulty with doing business. "A strong dollar doesn't necessarily mean all good, but we do have a very strong dollar. And we have interest rates going up at a clip that's much faster than certainly a lot of people, including myself, would have anticipated," the US president said.

Trump's criticism of the Fed has raised concerns over its ability to operate free of political pressure.

On Wednesday, Trump said, "The Fed is going wild. I don't know what their problem is. They are raising interest rates and it's ridiculous. ... The Fed is going loco, and there is no reason for them to do it and I'm not happy about it.

Japan PM Abe to make rare China visit on Oct 25-27

AFP ■ BEIJING

Shinzo Abe will pay the first visit by a Japanese Prime Minister to China since 2011 later this month, Beijing announced on Friday, in the latest sign of warming ties between the rivals.

Abe will visit from October 25 to 27 and mark the 40th anniversary of the Treaty of Peace and Friendship between the two nations, said Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Lu Kang.

The visit will "elevate our bilateral ties and put bilateral cooperation back on the right track," Lu said at a regular press briefing.

He added that the two sides will work to "jointly uphold multilateralism and the free trade system".

Lu said there a reception was planned to celebrate the Sino-Japanese friendship treaty, which was signed on October 23, 1978.

Abe and Chinese President Xi Jinping have met numerous times over the last few years on the sidelines of international events.

But no Japanese Prime Minister has paid an official visit to China since 2011 and no Chinese president has visited Japan since 2010.

Relations between China and Japan soured in 2012 over a territorial dispute over several tiny islands in the East China Sea.

Turkey frees US pastor after 2 years detention

AFP ■ ALIAGA

A Turkish court on Friday ordered the release of an American pastor held for the last two years in Turkey, in a case that sparked a crisis in ties with the United States.

The court in the western town of Aliaga convicted Andrew Brunson on terror-related charges and sentenced him to three years, one month and 15 days in jail, an AFP correspondent said.

However, he was freed taking into account time served and his good conduct in the trial, with the court lifting his house arrest and overseas travel ban, the correspondent added.

US Cardinal Donald Wuerl, accused over abuse cover-up, resigns

AFP ■ VATICAN CITY

Pope Francis has accepted the resignation of US Cardinal Donald Wuerl, who was blamed for not doing enough to deal with paedophile priests when he was a bishop in Pennsylvania, the Vatican said on Friday.

Wuerl, who has stepped down as archbishop of Washington, had announced last month that he planned to meet with the pope to discuss his resignation.

A sweeping US grand jury report released in August revealed credible allegations against more than 300 predator priests and identified over 1,000 victims of child sex abuse covered up for decades by the Catholic Church in the state of Pennsylvania.

The report is thought to be the most comprehensive to date into abuse in the US church, but while prosecutors have filed charges against two priests, the vast majority of crimes happened too long ago to prosecute under current laws.

In the report, Wuerl, who was bishop of Pittsburgh from 1988 to 2006, is repeatedly cited as one of the church leaders who helped to cover up the scandal. He has faced numerous calls for his resignation, including from his own clergy.

In the US capital last month, Wuerl prostrated himself in a sign of repentance at a mass dedicated to victims of abuse.

Russia may bring forward manned launch after rocket failure

AFP ■ MOSCOW

Russia said on Friday it was likely to bring forward the flight of a new manned space mission to the International Space Station but postpone the launch of a cargo ship after a rocket failure that forced two crew members to make an emergency landing.

It was the first such incident in Russia's post-Soviet history — an unprecedented setback for the country's space industry.

Saudi delegation in Turkey for talks on missing journalist

AFP ■ ANKARA

A Saudi delegation has arrived in Turkey for talks on missing journalist Jamal Khashoggi, officials said on Friday, with Riyadh and Ankara sharply at odds over how he disappeared last week from the kingdom's Istanbul consulate.

As the controversy intensified, the Washington Post reported Turkey had recordings made from inside the building that allegedly proved their claims Khashoggi had been tortured and killed at the consulate. His case risks hurting not just fragile Turkish-Saudi relations but also damaging the image of the kingdom and its ties to the West as powerful Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman promotes a reform drive.

Melania Trump: I ignore rumours of Trump's infidelity

AP ■ WASHINGTON

Melania Trump says she loves President Donald Trump and has "much more important things to think about" than allegations he cheated on her with a porn star, a Playboy Playmate or anyone else.

Mrs. Trump, who was interviewed by ABC while touring Africa last week, said people are just spreading rumours about her marriage. "I know people like to speculate and media like to speculate about our marriage and circulate the gossip," she said. "But I understand the gossip sells newspapers, magazines ... And, unfortunately, we live in this kind of world today."

She insisted allegations of her husband's infidelities are not a concern.

SHIKHA TALSANIA

I was a protagonist in a film where women played central roles with adult themes that was essentially loved by so many. I feel like keep repeating myself. We are telling stories that have a lot more truth in them. We are bringing way more reality to our films today.

KAPIL SHARMA

I feel everyone fights someday or the other. We are public figures and that is why our fights make it to the papers. But everyone has fought once in life — be it within family, business or work space. Little things keep happening. But since we are public figures, these things become news in our case.

SRIRAM RAGHAVAN

As a filmmaker, I want to bring some value, some thought in the mind of my audience. When I embark on the journey of storytelling, I am an explorer. My idea is to write a story where every character is well-etched out, irrespective of their gender. They're all human beings.

MANDY MOORE

I didn't choose the right person in Ryan (Adams). I don't feel guilty. I don't fault myself for it. When people said, 'I'm sorry,' I was like, 'No. Sorry would have been had I stayed in an unhealthy situation'. I didn't. I found my way out. And when I did, things opened back up again.

JEREMY SCOTT

Whenever I design, I think about my friends. The lookbook is like a party, celebrating the fun, the creativity and the energy of the people and the collection. It is inspired by positivity, love and diversity and has been brought out in collaboration with brand H&M.

TAILOR-MADE FOR YOUTH, RAMP GETS A BOUNCE

Even before you entered the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium for the Lotus Make-Up India Fashion Week, music and fashionable people greeted you. EDM played in the background and the densely packed venue had large pavilions for the fashion shows and the party after. The Chivas Studio lounge let you pick a particular drink glass — not just to drink in but carry the glass. But if you thought you can spot people carrying empty wine or scotch glasses, you are mistaken.

A makeover station with Lotus products, big cars and free beer kept the crowd entertained between shows. Leggy men and women, flamboyant style statements and friendly chatter peppered every corner. A DJ played music right in the middle of the arena while people sometimes grooved to it. The morning shows did not pull as much crowd as those that began after 7pm. The beer also began flowing freely post 6pm. Models in designer clothes strutted around in the Exhibition pavillion for fashion buyers to have a look at the collections. While the morning and afternoon was calm, twilight changed the venue into a party-like atmosphere where the fashionable people competed to look their best.

The 8pm show came with

WENDELL RODRICKS, ABHISHEK GUPTA and NANDITA BASU and GAURI & NAINIKA used bold and pastel colours, butterflies and clouds to wow the audience expectations since it had top fashion designer Wendell Rodricks' name attached to it.

Designer Schulen Fernandes for Wendell Rodricks presented a youthful and colourful collection with reds, blues, purples and yellows. The swimwear collection was sexy and stylish — aimed at millennials. Capes, dresses and ruched up sleeves with triangular sunglasses and socks with high heels made the outfits great for the beach or a party. The explosive use of colours with scarves, crop tops, crochet features, chunky necklaces, over sized bags and patterned shoulder straps and handmade statement jewellery had the same reaction which the name of the collection anticipated. While Abhishek Gupta and Nandita Basu's collection used white and gold with the butterfly motif. Long and short length in dresses, jumpsuits and rompers with flared sleeves made an elegant statement. Over sized jackets in gold and a n outfit, gold top till the mid-rif with flared pants with gold detailing, made a classic statement. Brocades in a royal skirt in colours of teal, pink and blue with butterfly motifs with a black crop top along with a dress in the same motif and fabric gave a extravagant look to the outfit.

It is perfect for casual traditional ceremonies or to make a statement at an austere event. Gauri & Nainika's collection was a dreamy affair with asymmetrical hemlines.

The audience rocked to popular songs like Don't stop believing at the event that was high on energy and beautiful designs. Gowns with big sleeves in tulle used in different places, sleeves, skirt and body presented a feminine silhouette. Off shoulder and cold shoulder body con dresses with asymmetrical mermaid silhouettes ruled the runway. Taking inspiration from clouds the clothes were big, flouncy but with definition. The show ended with the models and the designers dancing to an assortment of tunes while receiving standing ovation for their work.

‘JALEBI GAVE ME A CHEWABLE ROLE’

Actress RHEA CHAKRABORTY tells AYUSHI SHARMA how the film is complicated but relatable

Love is not something that you can resist even if you know that it is complicated. Relationships have their ups and downs and how we navigate through those roadblocks which life throws at us is what the film Jalebi is all about.

Actress Rhea Chakraborty is back with her first film of 2018, Jalebi, which is a tale of romance where protagonists Aisha (played by Rhea) and Dev meet each other again after seven years on a train journey.

Rhea who has also been part of films like, Half Girlfriend, Mere Dad Ki Maruti and Sonali Cable says that her journey from her first film to the current one has been “torturous”. She says, “I have always played a happy-go-lucky girl in most of my films but the fact is that a happy-go-lucky person actually has a different side too but we don't get to reveal that as actors. We don't always get to play everything that we actually are. There's a different side of mine that was gathering dust. That side is full of escapism that I had hidden somewhere deep down in the dark corners of my heart. It takes very brave people to see that and Bhatt sahab (Mahesh) and Pushpadeep (Bhardwaj) could see that in me, even though my image and what I portray has been far different. But, trust me they can look through personas, shatter the lookingglass and can see what's deep down inside.”

“I really enjoyed working with Bhatt sahab and Pushpadeep because I have not got the opportunity to play a character as intense as Aisha. Just like every coin has two sides, beneath the bubblyness of mine there comes pain and heartbreak I go through and I have portrayed that here,” she adds.

After shooting for Jalebi Rhea's take on love has completely changed. She thinks that this film is the most genuine portrayal of a new day relationship.

The Mere dad ki maruti actress feels that most of the love stories which are being showcased these days don't have conflicts that are part of this generation and that they are earlier conflicts which are still carried forward in films. She says, “Conflicts of your world vs my world, and you being a different entity chasing your dreams and me being a different entity does not make me wrong but it simply may not make us compatible.”

In the wake of #MeToo movement, with which the industry is continuing to grapple with, she says that the movement came one year ago in America, people spoke even then, people are speaking even now. Now that a couple of Bollywood insiders have spoken it's become a focus point.

“I'm glad that my industry is bringing about a flow of change because more girls need to speak up and more girls need to feel that there are girls out there who are taking the initiative of speaking out loud to the world so that they are not fearful and scared anymore. At the same time, we've been discussing so much on this that until and unless there's a solution to the problem it's just going to be some debatable or conversational topic with worthless finger pointing,” says Rhea.

The film also stars debutant Varun Mitra, presented by Vishesh Films in association with Mahesh Bhatt. Jalebi is a remake of the Bengali film Praktan starting Prosenjit Kumar and Rituparna Ghosh.

Heads roll as MeToo movement gathers storm

As multiple women came out to share their #MeToo experiences with Sajid Khan, the Bollywood director stepped down from his project Housefull 4, actor Akshay Kumar cancelled its shoot, and Sajid's family members Farah Khan and Farhan Akhtar expressed disappointment on Friday.

Sajid has been named by multiple women, including two actresses — Sonali Chopra and Rachel White — and one journalist for sexual misconduct. He has been called out not just for harassment but also for exposing his manhood to women. In response, Sajid wrote on Twitter: “In the wake of the allegations against me and the pressure being put on my family, my producer and the stars of my film Housefull 4, I must take the moral responsibility of stepping down from my directorial post, till the time I can allay the allegations and prove the truth...”

I request my friends in the media to kindly not pass judgment till the truth is out.” Akshay was disturbed to read about the claims against Sajid, and requested Housefull 4 producers to cancel the shoot until further investigation. It is noteworthy that the film also features Nana Patekar, who too is accused of sexual misconduct by actress Tanushree Dutta.

“This is something that requires stringent action. I will not work with any proven offenders and all those who have been subjugated to harassment should be heard and given the justice they deserve,” Akshay added. Twinkle Khanna was the first to call out the Housefull team,

Director SAJID KHAN stepped down from the film Housefull 4 while AKSHAY KUMAR refused to work in the project after Khan was accused by two women asking them to take a “firm stance” in the wake of allegations against the director and cast member though she did not name anyone in her tweet.

The accusations against Sajid are heartbreaking for the family, says his filmmaker-sister Farah Khan. “This is a heartbreaking time for my family. We have to work through some very difficult issues. If my brother has behaved in this manner he has a lot to atone for. I don't in any way endorse this behaviour and stand in solidarity with any woman who has been hurt,” she tweeted.

Their cousin, actor-filmmaker Farhan Akhtar said he was “shocked, disappointed and heartbroken” to read stories about Sajid's behaviour. “I don't know how, but he will have to find a way to atone for his alleged actions,” he added.

Several celebrities' names have cropped up in the #MeToo movement, leading several others to take a stern stand.

Amid the rising number of cases and accounts in this wave, actor Ajay Devgn tweeted: “I'm disturbed by all the happenings with regards to #MeToo. My company and I believe in providing women with utmost respect and safety. If anyone has wronged even a single woman, neither Ajay Devgn films nor I will stand for it.”

After Sonu Mahapatra, another woman claiming to be singer Kailash Kher's family friend accused him of sexual harrasment while actor-writer Piyush Mishra apologised to a journalist who wrote a Facebook post accusing him. He said he was a few drinks down and apologised if he made the “lady uncomfortable”.

Sonu Ke Titu Ki Sweety director Luv Ranjan, who was also accused, denied the allegations saying it was absurd. He said he was willing to face an inquiry. The anonymous 24-year-old said that he asked her to strip down to her underwear to see if she needed to lose weight.

Karim Morani, who had produced SRK's films like Chennai Express and Ra.One, was accused by a woman of rape. She said that he had drugged her and clicked photos without her consent to stop her from going public about it.

Meanwhile Subhash Kapoor, who was removed as the director of Mogul has now lost out on an Ekta Kapoor project, a web series called The Verdict.

Actor-producer Riteish Deshmukh expressed support for women who have been “extremely brave” to have shared their stories. “All need to be heard and not judged. I stand with them today.”

Pink actress Taapsee Pannu tweeted: “More than the names it's the description of the way things happened is what is disturbing me the most. Makes me have this terrible feeling that we have discovered only the tip of this iceberg.”

Actor Aparshakti Khurana made a pertinent point.

He said: “It is really unfortunate that we have to start this kind of a movement to bring sexual harassment stories in forefront. People are expressing their views on social media about this issue, but there is a larger population which is not on social media and they also might be going through these circumstances but they don't have platform to share their stories.”

“So, we also need masses to come out and talk about it. Sometimes people can also take unnecessary advantage of a situation, so, I hope everything is going in the right direction. I am really glad that people are coming out to share their stories which will curb anti-social elements of the society.”

Filmmaker Subhash Ghai, who was accused of harassment by a woman on social media, has firmly denied the claims.

He said, “It is sad that it's becoming a fashion to malign anyone known by bringing stories from the past without truth or half truth. I deny, strictly and firmly, all false allegations like these. I have always respected each and every woman in my life and even at a work place.” He also stated that the complainant should go to the court of law and prove her allegations, otherwise he will file a defamation case against the latter.

The allegation came to light through Mahima Kukreja, who had first raised her voice against comedian Utsav Chakraborty. (With agency inputs)

Durgotsav with a cause

From eco-friendly pandals, awareness about orphans and spastic children to saying no to using plastic, Durga Puja associations try their best at CSR

There is the faint sound of dhak coming from the distance, which gradually grows louder. Then one can hear the conch playing distinctly followed by women ululating. One can also look forward to dhumuchi naach and pandal hopping, for you guessed it, it is the time the city and especially those who hail from the state of Bengal can look forward to Durga Puja.

But if you think that it is just a festival to dress and eat well while showing piety, think again. The Bengali associations across Delhi-NCR use their creativity to showcase their tradition and use the platform to also take care of their social responsibilities. From eco-friendly pandals to creating awareness about various social issues, the committees have done it all.

This year Arambagh Puja will try to create awareness about the plight of orphans and spastic children in India. Taking inspiration from the great painting of Abanindranath Tagore's Bharat Mata from 1935, the puja samiti will make a replica of 40 ft tall Bharat Mata.

Abhijit Bose, executive chairman, Arambagh Puja said, "Apart from a few NGOs, social organisations and government programmes, there is little awareness about the orphans and spastic children in India. This section has hardly any voice. Through this year's Durga Puja we want to sensitise people, government and private bodies about this crucial issue in India. First, we have to admit that it is a serious issue and then only can we solve the problem," he said, adding "We have invited various NGOs who are working at the grass-root level with these children without any government aid and will try to help them as much as possible."

In Chittaranjan Park which is considered the hub of the Bengali community, the Co-operative Ground Durga Puja Samity, which is celebrating its 43rd Durga Puja, will showcase six different folk dances of West Bengal through creative panels made with eco-friendly material like papier-mâché, jute, plywood and bamboo. The attire of the idols is similar to Nataraj style and the colours are rustic. The dancers sing themselves and also perform to the singing of another group. Folk dances in West Bengal are mainly of three kinds: religious, social and cultural. Religious dances outnumber other forms.

The Chittaranjan Park B-Block Durga Puja has a thakur galan theme. This was a space for daily pujas at the zamindar houses where the floor had black and white checks like a chess board made with marble. They will be replicating the floor pattern as well. The zamindars' houses opened up their homes to the public during the Durgotsav and would feed thousands during that time. They have kept the environment in mind and used organic colours for the idol and cane, wood, cloth and thermocol for the pandal. "While the first three are easily recyclable the latter needs some effort," said Sameer Banerjee, general secretary of the puja committee.

At Mayur Vihar, the Milani Cultural and Welfare Association will pay homage to Satyajit Ray's anti-war fantasy comedy film, Goopi Gyne Bagha Byne, which was released half a century ago.

The pandal will focus on the film's central characters the King of Ghost, Goopi Gyne, the blessed singer and Bagha Byne, the blessed drum player, who brought peace between two warring countries through the power of their music. They will create an artificial bamboo bush with the King of Bhoot talking in his inimitable style and voice.

"Just the way, in the film the King of Ghost turned novice Goopi and Bagha into marvelous performers, we want him to bless us to say no to the use of plastic, thermocol and make our Yamuna clean with zero pollution. Our pandal is environment friendly, plastic free and child friendly," said Mrinal Biswas, general secretary of MC&WA.

Celebrities galore at Ramleela

Luv Kush Ramlila, one of the oldest Ram Lila committees, is also the one which is most talked about thanks to the array of Bollywood stars it gets each year

If the Delhi durbar is about power play, then its Ramlilas are about a world without politics and the ideal rajya that is an aspiration at best. But there are real world take-aways too. Like actor Shahbaz Khan, who plays the role of Ravana and has perfected the stotras and shlokas of Shiva for his character, a perfect embodiment of eclecticism.

Luv Kush Ramlila, one of the oldest Ram Lila committees, is also the one which is most talked about thanks to the array of celebrities it manages to get each year and the technology blitzkrieg that it unleashes. Says organiser Arjun Kumar, "There are 40 film stars who will be playing different roles including Shahbaz Khan who plays the role of Ravan. What is interesting to note is that he has learnt the shlokas for a year now, quite a scholarly act in itself. Raza Murad plays the role of Surabhi. Then there is Bindu Dara Singh who is playing Hanuman."

But there is more in the arsenal of Luv Kush Ram Lila committee. For they have brought not just film celebrities but those from the political arena as well. So one would be able to catch Dr Harshvardhan playing Janak and Vijay Sampla, Minister of State for Social Justice and Empowerment, as Shiv's father. Vijendra Gupta, the BJP MLA from Rohini, Alka Lamba, the Chandni Chowk MLA from AAP, Jagdish Mukhi, Governor of Assam and an MLA from Bihar too will be playing characters. The total crew comprises 600 artists.

"We are getting 20 artists who would be creating sets like Bahubali. So there will be scenes like Ram and Ravan engaging in battle mid-air or Hanuman flying. We will be engaging stunt artists," he says.

Adding to the razzmatazz of the event and lending an element of authenticity to the proceedings are the dresses. This time around, the committee has got Babu Bhai from Mumbai on board for the first time. "He makes dresses and even crafts shoes that are authentic and like that of a sanyasi," says Arjun.

If that's not enough, people do not have to be physically present to be able to enjoy the Ram Lila. It can be watched live on the phone or TV by logging onto their website. "Several cable operators have taken the URL and they too will be telecasting it live on their private channels. There are 15 theatres in Bihar and UP, which will have a special show of the Ram Lila in the evening. It can be seen all over the world through multiple channels,"

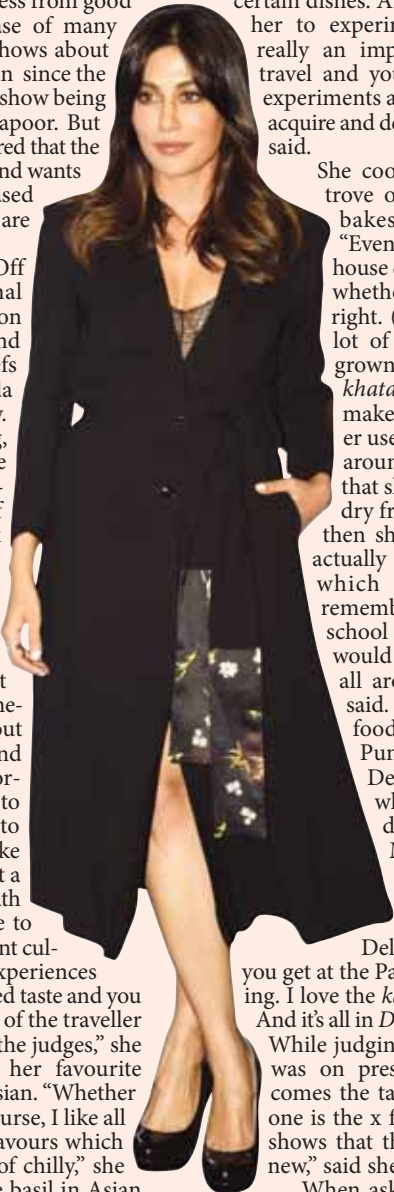

‘Delhi is the food hub’

Actress CHITRANGADA SINGH talks about the different cuisines she's tried on her travels. By ASMITA SARKAR

I get way too much happiness from good food," can be the catchphrase of many Indians. So not surprisingly, shows about it have been on Indian television since the 1990s. One of the first cookery show being Khana Khazana by Sanjeev Kapoor. But international exposure has ensured that the audience has come a long way and wants to watch innovative food-based shows that have challenges and are high pressure.

The AXN Ultimate Cook-Off – The Marriott International Challenge, that was broadcast on October 12 at 9pm on AXN and SonyLIV tested the expert chefs of India. Actress Chitrangada Singh was a judge on the show. "It had a mix of everything, one Italian chef and three Indian contestants who specialised in different kind of cuisines. So it was quite a mix up. There were competitions where they had to cook according to the given cuisine/dish. It's not actually specific to any one culture," she said.

She is a foodie herself but doesn't eat too much. "I am somebody who really likes to try out different things as I travel and explore flavours. I feel very fortunate that I got the chance to travel quite a bit. I have been to some really strange places like Taiwan, Korea and I have spent a long time in Japan as well in South America. I had got the chance to really go through a lot of different cultures and cuisines. So such experiences make you develop a more refined taste and you understand fusion. It's because of the traveller in me that I am here as one of the judges," she said. When asked which is her favourite among the lot she pointed to Asian. "Whether it is Thai food and Indian of course, I like all the pulpy, masala and spicy flavours which have a really strong presence of chilly," she said. The herbs and spices like basil in Asian food are her weak points. In South American, which is quite bland for her the flavour comes from fish and other meat. "It's completely different in that sense," she said. In Korean food, it is the barbecues and seaweed in Japanese that tickle her tastebuds.

For Indian travellers, she advises that they should stop sticking to their particular cuisines. "I want to tell them that you must experiment. My mother, who is a pure vegetarian, feels that there must be some meat in certain dishes. And I really try to push her to experiment more. Food is really an important part of your travel and you should be open to experiments and push yourselves to acquire and develop a new taste," she said.

She cooks a little and has a trove of Indian recipes and bakes from her mother. "Even today the cook in my house calls my mother to ask whether what he is doing is right. (Laughs) There are a lot of things that we have grown up eating like Nan khatai, that she used to make really well. My mother used to make a rum cake around Christmas time. In that she used to soak all the dry fruits and almonds and then she would bake it. She actually baked a lot of cakes which we would share. I remember coming back from school sometimes and there would be the amazing smell all around the house," she said. Even though she likes food from Rajasthan and Punjab her heart lies with Delhi is a "food hub" where the flavour is very different from Pune and Mumbai.

"If you have to try north Indian food, you have to go to Delhi. The paranthas that you get at the Pandara road are amazing. I love the kachoris at Haldiram's. And it's all in Dilli not Delhi," she said.

While judging the show, her focus was on presentation. "And then comes the tasting. Then the third one is the x factor. The factor that shows that this dish is something new," she said. When asked if she would be a part of any more shows, she said, "Let's see what the format of the show is and if it is exciting enough. AXN gives the time and makes it of a very good quality. The content automatically goes up with such things. So why not? If something that good comes up," she said.

If you ask me whether I am greedy, I will say no immediately. And so will the other person. I will find other greedy and others will find me greedy," says producer director Aanand L Rai. Sitting in the lounge of a single screen cinema hall after the screening of Tumbadd, a movie which he has produced which looks at one of the seven sins closely, he asks the rhetorical question. And then he goes to elaborate it further. "Ask anyone what is more important family or money and we would immediately say the former. That is what we feel but do we actually act like that?" And he illustrates it by giving his own example and says that he spends less time with his 16-year-old daughter as compared to his production. "Even if I say I am doing it to make money for my daughter but the fact is I don't spend enough time with her. So greed is something that you never admit to. Subconsciously Tumbadd forces you to think."

Rai admits that there is a conscious thought to resonate with the greed that can be seen in contemporary India. "But at another level these are the stories and folklores that we have heard through our grannies and elders. These are the lessons that we need to teach the coming generation. This chapter is timeless. When I see Tumbadd, I realise that money is not important. What I really liked about the film is that one moves from one generation to the other generation and the third and where the youngest generation says, 'I am done with greed.' I want to see that the next generation realise that the growth is somewhere else and not just in money," he says.

And he does see the younger generation as holding out hope even in the real world. "The younger generation is less confused as to what they want. At times we feel that they are a confused generation but my daughter is clearer about life than I was at her age. Whether it is career or life in general, even when these confused then in front. I am confused. guts to say this.

The director of movies like Tanu Weds Manu, Ranjhana, Tanu Weds Manu Returns and more says that he wanted to screen the movie for a select few not just because he wanted the scribes to write about it but also for the sake of initiating an intelligent dialogue and interaction.

The movie which was in production for six years stars Sohum Shah who was last seen in Simran in 2017 and also starred in the critically acclaimed Ship of Theseus. The fantasy horror movie directed by debutant Rahi Anil Barve is set in the period before Partition and raises questions like whether an eternal life is a gift or a curse and how much money can make a person happy and what is it really worth.

The cinematography is brilliant and one actually travels with the characters to the depths of the earth or even almost gets drenched in the incessant rain in the bleak surroundings that is a constant throughout the film. Rai admits that it was not easy for them as a team to hold up. "Tumbadd rarely happens where despite the best of vision and story, it becomes the riskiest film as the budgets go high, the cast is new, you can't be sure of doing that well at box office. But if we all decide that this can't be done, how can the Director of Photography create this world? He is not a magician, he needs resources which cost a lot of money."

So at the moment Rai's biggest challenge is get the audience to the theatre so that they can justify its making. And once they are here "they can watch a visual delight and have something to take away. You can't come to this movie, eat popcorn and walk away.

But given that very often a large segment of the audience is coming in to be entertained rather than be faced with tough questions that the film throws up and forces them to examine their lives, would they still queue up and buy tickets?

"I don't deny that people are coming to get entertained. If you aren't getting entertained by this film then I am ready to stand there and apologise. It engages you as it is an entertaining film. I personally feel those two hours that you spent in the theatre, you see a plot, a movement, that takes you away from your personal life. I am not thinking of my own problems when I watch it."

Rai also points out that the horror genre in Bollywood is jaded and outdated. "It is overdue to redefine the genre. We are still doing what we did during the last two decades so we still see old havelis which are so typical. It was new at that time," he says and adds that Hollywood and Japanese films have a better understanding of this genre. "A movie like The Conjuring or The Ring or Nun taps the audience. Tumbadd might not be able to do the same kind of business but it is a beginning and we have understood that there is a long way to go. It is the beginning of new era of horror in India."

Since Rai has been a successful director who switched sides to be a director, what is the perspective that both the roles offer him? "It helps to understand both sides. I became the producer because I understood what a director goes through. When I decided to produce my own says he.

Since security too is an important aspect of the entire proceedings, the committee has got the services of a private security agency and hired Black Cat commandos. "There are also 800 local children called the Swayamsewak karyakarta which are divided into 40 groups of 20 each to look after the security. The Delhi Police is helping us. The CCTV footage will be monitored by both — our people and DP." Arrangements will be made to seat 25,000 people while 15,000 can watch it standing. "We expect about a lakh people watch it everyday as the audience keeps coming in and walking out.

The Shri Ram Dharmik Leela Committee, Tri Nagar is not as old but it does have its own charm. Organiser Anil Garg, says, "We will not be using sets that generate a carbon footprint post-show. Rather we have LEDs where the backdrop keeps changing. So during the forest scene, the display changes to a forest on the screen. We have increased the stage size from 100 to 130 feet." They feature 65-70 artists but all of them know the entire Ramayana by heart and do not need any prompting.

Garg organises another Ramlila in Pitampura called Sampurna Ramayana where the entire epic is performed within three-and-a-half hours. Performed over six days to get the maximum traction, what makes it special is that the language is easy. The title song is sung by Udit Narayan and the music has been composed by Chandra Kamal, son of Raj Kamal, who had done the music for BR Chopra's Mahabharata.

FEDERER FIRES TO JOIN DJOKOVIC IN SHANGHAI SEMIS

Roger defeats Kei Nishikori to enter semis; Novak beats Anderson to sail into semi-finals

AFP ■ SHANGHAI

Although Roger Federer finally won a match in straight sets at this year's Shanghai Masters, it didn't save him any energy.

The defending champion reached the semifinals Friday by beating eighth-seeded Kei Nishikori 6-4, 7-6 (4). His first two matches both went three sets.

"It was the same length, actually, as all three of my matches went the same length basically, an hour and 52 (minutes)," Federer said. "So you see, two sets sometimes doesn't tell the truth."

Federer finished the match with 10 aces and landed an impressive 71 percent of his first serves. He went up a break at the start of the second set, but then trailed 4-1 in the tiebreaker.

"I was happy to get out in two," Federer said. "I somehow got it done. I think I can be very happy with my level of play this week."

Federer, a two-time champion in Shanghai, will next face 13th-seeded Borna Coric. The Croat defeated Matthew Ebden 7-5, 6-4.

"He's really improved his game, stepping up into the court, goes for his shots more than he used to," Federer said of Coric. "He good in defense now, he has a transition game now, and a solid serve. I've always played him when he's playing well, but I'll

Manu wins Silver in Youth Olympics

PTI ■ BUENOS AIRES

Young shooting sensation Manu Bhaker became the second Indian after judoka Tababi Devi to win two medals at the Youth Olympic Games (YOG) after winning a Silver while the men's hockey team moved to the semi-finals with a 4-2 win over Poland here on Friday.

In a unique format, Manu combined with Tajikistan's Behzan Fayzullaev in the 10m air pistol mixed international and settled for a Silver after losing the Gold medal match 3-10 to Germany's Vanessa Seeger and Bulgaria's Kiril Kirov.

The India-Tajik pair had on Thursday come through qualification with a score of 751. They then beat an Egyptian-Thai pair 10-4 in the round of 16 at the Parque Polideportivo Roca shooting range in the Argentine capital. They beat a pair from Lithuania and Moldova 10-8 in the quarterfinals and then overcame Andria Ibarra of Mexico and Dymtro Honta of Ukraine 10-3 in the semifinals.

The German-Bulgarian pair however started strong in the finals and was 3-0 ahead at one stage before winning 10-3 to emerge champions.

According to the format, the Gold medal winner of the individual event is paired with the athlete who finished 20th in the final.

India thus wrapped up their shooting campaign with two Gold and three Silver medals.

Of the eight medals won by the Indian contingent so far, five are from shooting. Manu and Saurabh Chaudhary had won Gold in the men's and women's 10m air pistol events, while Shahu Mane and Mehuli Ghosh had won Silver in the men's and women's 10m air rifle events, earlier in the Games.

On the hockey turf, Shivam Anand (1st, 8th minutes) sounded the board twice while Maninder Singh a(3rd) and Sanjay (17th) were the other goal scorers for India in the quarterfinals of the Hockey 5s competition at the Parque Poland's goals came from the sticks of Eryk Bembenek (16th) and Michal Nowakowski (18th).

The Indian women's hockey 5s team beat South Africa 5-2 in their final Pool A match to advance to the quarterfinals of the Youth Olympic Games here.

The Indians finished in the second spot in their pool with 12 points, behind leaders Argentina.

Mumtaz Khan (2nd, 17th minute), Reet (10th), Lalremsiam (12th) and Ishika Chaudhary (13th) scored in India's convincing victory over South Africa on Thursday as the team ended the pool stages on a winning note after Wednesday's defeat to hosts Argentina.

On the badminton courts, title favourite Indian Lakshya Sen recovered from a game deficit to beat Kodai Naraoka 14-21 21-15 24-22.

Swimmer Srihari Natraj failed to qualify for the finals of the men's 200m backstroke after finishing sixth in Heat 1 with a timing of 2:04.80, which was overall 13th best. Only eight best made it to the final.

The tactic fetched the Indians back-to-back penalty corners in the fifth minute and Vishnukant Singh converted the second attempt with a good variation.

India's lead was shortlived as last year's runner-up side Great Britain equalised in the next minute, courtesy a brilliant field goal from Cameron Golden.

In the second quarter too, India continued to dominate stretching Great Britain's defence.

While one penalty corner went wasted, the second set piece was converted by Shilanand Lakra in the 20th minute to hand India a 2-1 lead.

The third quarter, however, belonged to Great Britain, as they tested the Indian defence with Para athletes added two Gold medals to India's kitty after chess players and a shuttler grabbed yellow metal as the country continued its impressive performance at the Asian Para Games where Paralympic medallist Deepa Malik bagged her second Bronze on Friday.

K Jennitha Anto clinched the Gold in women's individual rapid P1 chess event after beating Manurung Roslinda of Indonesia 1-0 in the final round, while Kishan Gangolli got the better of Majid Bagheri in the men's individual rapid VI - B2/B3 event to claim the top spot.

Rapid P1 event is for physically impaired athletes while rapid VI - B2/B3 event features partially blind competitors.

In para-badminton, Parul Parmar notched up a 21-9 21-5 victory over Wandee Kamtam of Thailand to win the Gold medal in the women's singles SL3 event.

Athletes in this class have impairment in one or both lower limbs and poor walking/running balance but they play in standing positions.

"I work as a coach in the Gujarat's Sports Authority of India. My target is Paralympics. I will play in the World Championships next," Parmar said after winning the gold.

"So, I want support from my office and I need sponsors. When we go to play international tournaments we don't have sponsors and we have to fund ourselves. I request the government to help us," she added.

Later, para athletes further made it a memorable day for the Indians.

It was double delight for India in the men's javelin throw F55 event as Neeraj Yadav and Amit Balyan clinched the gold and silver medals respectively.

While Neeraj's best effort was 29.24m, Amit threw the spear to 29.79 to win the silver. The bronze was bagged by Vietnam's Kieu Minh Trung with a throw of 28.27m.

It was a one-two finish for India in the men's club throw F51 event too with Amit Kumar and Dharambir bagging the Gold and Silver respectively.

India also won a Bronze medal in the men's C4 Individual Pursuit 4000m cycling event with Gurlal Singh claiming the third position. This event is for athletes with a below the knee amputation and a prosthesis on one leg.

Earlier in the day, Rio Paralympics Silver-medallist Deepa Malik bagged her second medal at the ongoing competition when she clinched the bronze in the women's F51/52/53s discus throw.

Deepa produced her best effort in her fourth attempt, a 9.67 metre throw to claim the third spot.

Elnaz Darabian of Iran took home the gold and set a new Asian record with her best throw of 10.71m. Fatema Nedham of Bahrain won the silver with an effort of 9.87m.

The other Indian in fray, Ekta Bhyan, who won the Gold in the women's club throw event, finished last in a four-strong field with a best attempt of 6.52m.

In F51/52/53 category, athletes have full power and movements in their arms, but none in their abdominal muscles and typically no sitting balance. They compete in seated positions.

Deepa had earlier won a Bronze in women's F 53/54 javelin throw event.

In the women's discus throw F11 category, Nidhi Mishra claimed a Bronze covering a personal distance of 21.82m. The F11 classification covers visual impairment.

India now have 63 medals in the Games, which conclude on Saturday. Thirteen of these are Gold, 20 Silver and 30 Bronze.

Sharma fires superb 64; lies third at CIMB Classic

PTI ■ KUALA LUMPUR

Indian golfer Shubhankar Sharma fired a spectacular eight-under 64 in the second round to grab a share of the third spot and put himself in title contention at the USD seven million CIMB Classic here Friday.

Sharma, who ended the first round with five birdies on his second nine, added nine birdies and a bogey on the second day to put himself in contention for the PGA Tour title. Earlier this year, Sharma took halfway lead and then into the final round at WGC-Mexico, where he finally finished T-9.

Sharma shares the third place with Paul Casey (66-65) at 13-under, and they are one behind co-leaders, American Gary Woodland (69-61), who equalled the course record with 11-under and Australian Marc Leishman (68-62) who also got into double digits at 10-under for the day. They were 14-under for shared lead.

India's other contenders this week were quite some distance behind, as Gaganjeet Bhullar, the 2018 Fiji International winner, went on shot better than his first 70 and scored 69. At five-under 139, he is T-136, as he seeks to better his best in the event - T-10 at 2012 edition.

Anirban Lahiri incurred a two-shot penalty on Par-3 11th and scored a triple on the hole, as he scored 74 and is now 2-over 146 and T-73rd. Rahul Gangjee (77-71) was 4-over and 77th.

Sharma, who played the back nine at the TPC Kuala Lumpur, which was very dry despite heavy rain on Wednesday, had three birdies in his first nine holes and then added six more birdies against one solitary bogey on second, which came after a wayward drive off the tee.

Shubhankar Sharma

"It was almost like I woke up after the front nine yesterday. I didn't really have the best of starts, but the next 27 holes after that have been really good," Sharma said.

Sharma started from 10th and birdied 10th, 16th and 18th and then added a fourth on first. His sole blemish was on second, his 11th hole. Then he had five birdies over next nine, including three in a row from third to fifth.

"I was in a kind of a zone. I just feel like all the players playing at this level are at a very high level. On a course like this when they get going, they will go really low and I just feel like even I belong in that league," he said.

Bhullar picked up just two bogeys but he has also missed a lot of birdie putts. He has had only seven birdies, as he is 5-under for 36 holes.

Lahiri not only had problems putting, but also had a triple on Par-3 11th as he grounded his club on the stone (in the hazard) without realizing. He was on the edge of the water and he came out with a bogey and the penalty turned it into a triple.

He had birdies on second, third and seventh, but a bogey on eighth saw him finish at 74 and two-over and T-73.

"It was one of those days, when nothing worked," said Lahiri.

Bronson Burgoon (63-69), who led after the first round was T-5th with Austin Cook (64-68) and Scott Piercy (65-67) at 12-under.

Bengal Warriors start off with win

IANIS ■ CHENNAI

Bengal Warriors got off to a winning start by inflicting a fourth straight defeat on hosts Tamil Thalaivas 36-27 in a Zone B Pro Kabaddi tournament clash at the packed Jawaharlal Nehru Indoor Stadium here on Thursday.

In the last game of the Chennai leg, the burly Maninder Singh scored nine points to lead the charge for Bengal who were impressive in the previous season too and started the match as favourites.

Maresh Goud (five points) and Ran Singh (four points) also played important roles for Bengal as they made the most of Tamil Thalaivas' silly mistakes throughout the game.

Jasvir Singh came back to form for the home team, scoring seven points while in-form Ajay Thakur continued to toil alone grabbing six points.

It was a complete all-round performance from Bengal as they inflicted all out at crucial moments. Bengal Warriors were reduced to just one man in the ninth minute and trailed 5-9.

Rakesh NarwalA scored with a brilliant super raid in the 11th minute as Bengal Warriors leveled the match at 10-10 and averted a sure-shot all out.

Already through to the final, the Indian junior men's hockey team Friday suffered its first defeat at the eighth Sultan of Johor Cup, losing 2-3 against Great Britain in its last round robin match here.

With four consecutive wins earlier in the tournament, India had already entered the summit clash ahead of Friday's clash with 12 points.

Great Britain are placed second in the points table with 10 points from five games out of which they won three.

The Indian juniors led by Mandeep Mor made a strong start making potential forays into the rival's striking circle.

India conceded back-to-back penalty corners, courtesy some sloppy defending inside the circle and Great Britain capitalised on the opportunity by scoring in the 39th minute through Stuart Rushmere.

The Englishmen continued to put the Indian defence under pressure in the final quarter as they found ways to create chances.

Great Britain took the lead for the first time in the match in the 51st minute through another penalty corner which was converted by captain Edward Way.

Thereafter, Great Britain defended in numbers to deny the Indians any headway.

The final of the tournament will be held on Saturday.

KOHLI CONSOLIDATES TOP POSITION

PTI ■ DUBAI

India captain Virat Kohli, who struck 139 in India's massive win in the first Test against the West Indies, on Friday consolidated his position at the top of the Test rankings, moving within one point of his highest rating point of 937.

Kohli had achieved his highest rating after the Southampton Test against England earlier this year. Spinner Kuldeep Yadav's six wickets in the match, including a haul of five for 57 in the second innings, has lifted him 16 places to 52nd position.

Ravindra Jadeja's 100 not out has lifted him six places to 51st among batsmen, and with him also claiming four wickets in the match, he has bridged the gap with top-ranked Shakib Al Hasan to three points in the list of all-rounders.

For the West Indies, Roston Chase has moved up four places to 41st position and Kieran Powell has advanced five slots to 54th position.

Young Indian batsman Prithvi Shaw, who made an impressive debut in the Rajkot Test, has made fine entry into the Test rankings - entering the list of batsmen at the 73rd position. Australian debutant Aaron Finch, who slammed 62 and 49 in Dubai, was at number 72.

Meanwhile, Australia opener Usman Khawaja has moved into the top 10 for the first time, after his dogged century helped his side salvage a draw against Pakistan.

The left-handed opener, who struck 85 and 141 to claim the player of the match award on Thursday and advance nine places, had a previous best ranking of 11th in January 2017, when he attained a career-best 747 rating points.

Tim Paine's unbeaten 61 in the second innings has taken him up two slots to 49. Tim Paine's unbeaten 61 in the second innings has taken him up two slots to 49. Captain Tim Paine is another Australia batsman to move up as his unbeaten 61 in the second innings has taken him up two slots to 49 in the latest update, which also takes into account the first Test in Rajkot, where India completed their biggest ever victory, defeating the West Indies by an innings and 272 runs.

PTI ■ HYDERABAD

Indian spinners went off the boil in the final session as all-rounder Roston Chase hit a gutsy unbeaten 98 to take the West Indies to a respectable 295 for seven on the opening day of the second Test, here on Friday.

Chase, who scored 137 to deny India a victory in a Test match in Jamaica back in 2016, showed the much-needed application with requisite technique as Indian bowlers struggled after polishing off the top half for only 113 runs.

Chase, along with skipper Jason Holder (52), did enough to ensure that the West Indies will have a good first innings total to fight against a heavyweight Indian batting line-up.

Not being able to dismiss the middle and lower-order was a problem in England and it once again turned out to be the bowling unit's bane as the Chase-Holder duo added 104 runs for the seventh wicket.

In England, it was the pacers, here it was the spinners and only one wicket fell for 102 runs in last session.

Nonetheless, Umesh Yadav (3/83 in 23 overs) bowled his heart out on a good batting track while left-arm wrist spinner Kuldeep Yadav (3/74 in 26 overs) was also impressive during the first two sessions.

Debutant pacer Shardul Thakur left the field complaining of groin strain after bowling merely 10 deliveries and the Indian attack was reduced to four men.

It seemed good enough till tea time but the lack of a fifth bowler did have its effect in the final session as the two senior spinners Ravichandran Ashwin (1/49 in 24.2 overs) and Ravindra Jadeja (0/69 in 20 overs) lacked a Plan B to dismiss a set Chase.

That Jadeja didn't even have a Plan A was evident as he bowled flat out but wasn't even restrictive like Ashwin.

Prior to the match, when Chase was asked about doing a Jamaica encore, he replied: "Anything is possible."

He walked the talk and read the pitch better compared to his top-order colleagues.

He understood that it was a flat track and played most deliveries on the front-foot to meet the ball early. When the spinners fired in the faster ones, he was quick to lean on his backfoot.

In all, he hit seven boundaries and a six during his 174-ball knock.

However, it was India, who had started the post-lunch session on a dominant note with signs that another batting debacle from the Caribbeans looking imminent.

Shimron Hetmeyer (12) offered no stroke to a googly and was adjudged plumb in-front. Sunil Ambris (18) played a loose shot as the Caribbeans were left stuttering at 113 for five.

Chase and Shane Dowrich (30) then added 69 runs for the sixth wicket before Umesh got the ball to reverse trapping the keeper leg-before. While the umpire initially gave not out, skipper Virat Kohli had a successful DRS review.

Earlier, Ashwin and Yadav struck early in the session as West Indies lost their top-order in the first session in which they scored 86 runs.

At the stroke of lunch, Shai Hope (36) was dismissed by Yadav as India gained the upper-hand.

DEBUTANT SHARDUL RULED OUT OF 2ND TEST WITH INJURY

HYDERABAD: The National Cricket Academy's rehabilitation programme once again came under scanner after seamer Shardul Thakur's Test debut against West Indies lasted a mere 10 deliveries due to recurrence of a groin strain sustained during the Asia Cup in Dubai. Incidentally, this new injury fiasco happened only two days after the Committee of Administrators met the stakeholders in the cricket team for a much-hyped meeting trying to take a stock of Indian cricket.

After bowling the fourth delivery of the fourth over, which the West Indian opener Kieran Powell guided it past backward point, Shardul was seen in considerable pain as he started hobbling. Once physio Patrick Farhart came inside the ground, the pacer was seen showing what looked like a groin strain. He then left the field after a couple of minutes of deliberation with captain Virat Kohli and the physio. Ravichandran Ashwin completed Shardul's over by bowling the last two deliveries.

"Shardul Thakur has gone for scans. He will not take the field today. An update on his participation for the rest of the Test will be taken after looking at the scans and after being assessed by the team management," read the official statement from BCCI.

This is the second time that the 26-year-old broke down in back-to-back international matches.

"Groin injury is a fitness related injury and not an on-field one. My question is how did Shardul get a fitness certificate within 10 days of complaining groin soreness and then it recurs within another fortnight. Strange," a BCCI official, privy to NCA's mode of functioning, said on Friday.

BCCI shifts second ODI against Windies from Wankhede to CCI

MUMBAI: The fourth One-Day International between India and West Indies was Friday shifted from the Wankhede Stadium here to the Cricket Club of India (CCI).

The BCCI Friday formally announced that the match will now be held at the Brabourne Stadium on October 29.

"Under the instructions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India appointed Committee of Administrators, the fourth One-day International match between India and Windies scheduled on 29th October at Wankhede Stadium has been shifted to Cricket Club of India, Mumbai," the BCCI said in a statement.

The need for a shift in venue arose due to original host, the Mumbai Cricket Association (MCA) citing it's inability to issue tenders to the vendors for the ODI. The city's cricket body had already cited its inability in hosting the ODI at the Wankhede Stadium, primary because of financial constraints.

the first Test as he was ready to dig in his heels and defend doggedly.

However, not scoring runs did put pressure as he looked clearly uncomfortable at not being able to pick Kuldeep's wrist-spinners.

In fact, he was facing problems with Kuldeep's incoming delivery -- the stock ball for a chinaman.

One such delivery ended his 68-ball vigil with a delivery that spun sharply into Brathwaite as the batsman played to a wrong line.

Youngsters Hope and Shimron Hetmeyer (10 batting), however, batted with grit, punishing the odd loose balls for boundary.

Both were ready to defend Ashwin off the front-foot primarily and it worked to their advantage as they added 34 runs for the third wicket.

The stand-out shots of the first session were a couple of back-foot punches by Hope off Umesh Yadav's bowling.

He also hit a front-foot cover drive before Umesh angled one in to get him leg before.

Mbappe cameo helps France avoid shock defeat

AFP ■ GUINGAMP

Kylian Mbappe inspired a fightback from world champions France as they rallied from two goals down at home to earn a 2-2 draw with Iceland on Thursday.

Birkir Bjarnason swept Iceland ahead from the edge of the area on 30 minutes, and Kari Arnason's excellent second-half header doubled their lead in Guingamp.

But Mbappe, brought on as a substitute for the final half-hour, gave France a lifeline when his shot was saved and then inadvertently turned in by Iceland defender Holmar Orn Eydjolfsson.

The Paris Saint-Germain forward levelled from the penalty spot in the 90th minute after Kolbeinn Sigthorsson handled at a corner.

Ousmane Dembele was denied an equaliser by a terrific block from Iceland goalkeeper Runar Alex Runarsson, while Lloris pulled off a stunning save from Ragnar Sigurdsson before keeping out follow-up efforts by Bjarnason and Finnbogason.

"The team saw we needed to do something else. I bring what I can do,"

Alcacer netted twice in the first half to make it eight goals in 14 Spain appearances, while Sergio Ramos and Marc Bartra were also on target for the visitors.

ARGENTINA BEAT IRAQ 4-0
RIYADH: Argentina shrugged off the absence of Lionel Messi as a second-string team eased past Iraq 4-0 in an international friendly in Riyadh on Thursday.

Interim coach Lionel Scaloni used the match to blood a host of new talent with goalkeeper Sergio Romero, defender Ramiro Funes Mori and striker Paulo Dybala the only experienced players in the line-up.

Inter Milan's Lautaro Martinez opened the scoring in the 18th minute with a near-post header from a left wing cross by Marcos Acuna.

Roberto Pereyra grabbed the second in the 53rd minute when the Watford player finished off a smart one-two with Dybala.

German Pezzella headed the third goal from a corner past over-worked Iraq goalkeeper Jalal Hassan with Franco Cervi breaking through the defence for the fourth goal in stoppage time.

Portugal ruin Lewandowski's century celebration

AFP ■ PARIS

Portugal, playing without embattled Cristiano Ronaldo, defeated Poland 3-2 in the Nations League on Thursday, shattering Robert Lewandowski's celebrations of playing his 100th international.

European champions Portugal scored three times in 20 minutes in the Polish city of Chorzow through Andre Silva (32 minutes), a Kamil Glik own-goal (43) and a strike from Bernardo Silva (52).

Fernando Santos's Portugal team now have two wins in two in the Nations League after also beating Italy 1-0 in September.

The result ended Scotland's seven-match undefeated run in competitive outings stretching back to November 2016.

Colombia's North American tour continues on Tuesday against Costa Rica at Red Bull Arena in Harrison New Jersey, when the United States will face Peru in Connecticut.

India-China football clash after 2 decades

PTI ■ SUZHOU

Billion-plus populations but laggards in a truly global sport — India and China will go head to head in a football friendly for the first time in 21 years on Saturday with the home team a firm favourite despite poor recent form.

The Indian team is playing an international match for the first time in China though their senior sides have faced each other 17 times in the past. China have played in India seven times, all of them in the invitational tournament Nehru Cup.

India will be led by star defender Sandesh Jhingan, coach Stephen Constantine revealed in the pre-match press conference here.

"I think he is going to be one of the leaders for India going forward. Keeping the magnitude of the game in mind, I believe he deserves to lead the team," Constantine said.

India has not won a single match out of the 17 while China has come out trumps 12 on occasions.

Five matches have ended in draws. The senior teams of India and China last played in the 1997 Nehru Cup in Kochi which the 'Red Dragons' won 2-1.

Saturday's match at Suzhou, around 100 km from Shanghai, has attracted a lot of interest among the football fans and the media in the backdrop of the competition between the two countries in several spheres as well as the fact that they are playing a football match for the first time after 1997.

Neighbours India and China account for one-third of the world's population and they are the fastest growing and competing global economies but they have remained "sleeping giants" with nothing much to show at the world stage.

This is more true for India as the country has not featured in a single FIFA World Cup while China has done so once — in 2002 when they exited from the group stages after losing all their three matches.

Sunil Chhetri in action

Twitter

Despite being a lesser force on the global stage, China, nonetheless, is one of the established football countries in Asia. The 'Red Dragons' have been consistently among the top-10 in Asia and in the top-100 in the world.

The country is now 76th in FIFA rankings and seventh in Asia.

China has played 11 times in the Asian Cup, the continent's top-flight competition and has finished runners-up twice and third as many times.

India, on the other hand, has played only thrice in the Asian Cup (1964 runners-up; 1984 and 2011) and recently broke into the top 100 in the FIFA rankings after a long time. The country is now 97th in FIFA rankings and 15th in Asia.

It is a bold move on India's part to play against China as they have not played in the recent past against a top side in the continent except in the Asian Cup or the World Cup qualifiers and it is also fraught with consequences.

The match, being played by both sides in the FIFA international friendly window as part of preparations for the AFC Asian Cup in January next month, will test India's 'real' progress and its stake as a country hoping to be among the Asian elite.

"We are fully aware that China are a big side in the region. They will be a very difficult side. They want to play possession football, attacking football,"

Constantine said.

"We will go all out for a win. But if we lose, we will try to find out the positive aspects."

Lead striker and regular skipper Sunil Chhetri, who will take the field as the country's lead striker, wondered just why it took so long for the two countries to play each other. "We should not afford them much space. At the same time, whenever we find a little room of opportunity, we have to construct the moves and counter them," said Chhetri.

China are the favourites to win Saturday's match but the home side would know that it cannot be complacent as it has been struggling of late after a 0-1 loss to an inexperienced Qatar last month and then a 0-0 stalemate with Bahrain. The home team's 2006 WC winning Italian coach Marcello Lippi cannot afford to anything other than a win on Saturday with less than three months left for the Asian Cup, which will be his last tournament with the Chinese national side.

ASIAN CUP FOOTBALL GETS GREEN LIGHT FOR FOUR SUBS

KUALA LUMPUR: Next year's Asian Cup will allow a fourth substitute when games go to extra time, the Asian Football Confederation announced on Friday. The move follows a change to the official Laws of the Game, which was also implemented at this year's World Cup in Russia. "I am confident the new regulations will add to the excitement of Asia's flagship national team competition and further strengthen the AFC's ambitions to be the world's leading Confederation," AFC president Sheikh Salman bin Ibrahim Al Khalifa said in a statement. The same rule will also apply at the AFC U19 Championship, starting next week in Indonesia, as well as next year's AFC U19 Women's Championship and the AFC U23 Championship in Thailand in 2020, the AFC said. The AFC has also said it is considering using Video Assistant Referee (VAR) technology 'at some stage' at the Asian Cup in the United Arab Emirates, which starts on January 5.

YOKOHAMA TO HOST IAAF WORLD RELAYS IN 2019

PARIS: The 2019 athletics World Relays will be held in the Japanese city of Yokohama after the hosts for the last three editions, the Bahamas, were no longer able to offer financial backing, the IAAF said Friday. "After the Bahamas government confirmed that it would no longer be able to offer the financial guarantee that underpinned the event in Nassau, several member federations contacted the IAAF directly to express their interest in hosting the 2019 World Relays," the IAAF said in a statement. "Following very careful consideration, Japan was considered to be the preferred location." Yokohama, Japan's second largest city by population, will host the two-day competition on May 11 and 12. "This will also be a great opportunity for our athletes to experience the culture and conditions of the host nation little more than a year before the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games," said IAAF president Sebastian Coe.

MUMBAI TO HOST JUNIORTHON ON DECEMBER 23

MUMBAI: Juniorthon, the city's longest running and fitness carnival for children, will be held here on December 23, the organisers have announced. Juniorthon aims to promote running as an active lifestyle for children and their families. Juniorthon will be followed by a curated carnival boasting of more than 50 activities including a mix of games, food, rides, fitness activities, workshops and a lot more for kids to have fun while being fit. "At Juniorthon, we are inculcating the healthy habit of running and going for outdoor activities amongst kids at an early age. Today's kids are very addicted to mobile games, gadgets and television keeping them indoors. This lack of outdoor activities leads to rise in childhood obesity and other related lifestyle diseases. Mumbai Juniorthon is all about children running towards a healthier future and supporting a good cause," Bhavna Mehta, founder and creative director, Party Shanty Entertainment, organisers of Juniorthon, said in a statement. The last date for registering is October 31.

IRELAND'S O'BRIEN RETIRES FROM INTERNATIONAL CRICKET

NEW DELHI: Tireland wicketkeeper-batsman Niall O'Brien announced on Friday that he is retiring from international and first-class cricket after a 16-year career. The 36-year-old, who made his international debut against Denmark in 2002, played 216 times for Ireland and appeared in his nation's first-ever Test, against Pakistan, in May this year. O'Brien opted for the number 72 shirt to mark his match-winning score in Ireland's famous win against Pakistan at the 2007 World Cup. His county career included spells with Kent, Northamptonshire and Leicestershire. "It is with a heavy heart that I am announcing my retirement from international and professional cricket," said O'Brien, who has played much of his career alongside his younger brother Kevin. "I have been blessed to have been lucky enough to have represented my country for 16 years with plenty more ups than downs and for this I look back with nothing but smiles and laughter." Cricket Ireland performance director Richard Holdsworth said O'Brien had been symbolic of the rise of Irish cricket.
